Welcome For Ky Canceled

PARIS (AP) - A big reception planned by the Vietnamese community in Paris for Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky Sunday has been canceled on French advice, a South Vietnamese spokesman announced Saturday night.

Dang Duc Khoi told newsmen it had been planned that representatives of the Vietnamese community in Paris, estimated at around 30,000, would be at Orly Airfield around noon Sunday to greet Ky and the Saigon delegates to the Vietnamese peace conference.

Khoi said the French told the South Vietnamese this would be difficult to organize at the airport.

In answer to a question, he declined to say whether the French action stemmed from political or physical reasons. He did, however, report that an inspection indicated to him personally there was little room in which to stage a mass rally.

The French barred a mass rally that had been planned Nov. 4 for the arrival of the delegation of the Communist-led National Liberation Front.

Khoi reported that the Vietnamese community now will be received by Ky at his residence, identified as an elegant mansion in the fashionable western part of Paris.

U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators have agreed on seven procedural issues for the expanded four-way peace talks, but they cannot agree on who will sit where.

U.S. officials said the seven points agreed on Friday by Cyrus R. Vance, No. 2 man in the U.S. delegation, and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Ha Van Lau, are:

—The first four-way session will be restricted to conference procedure.

—Each group will have a speaker.

—They will meet in the same room previously used for U.S.-North Vietnamese talks at the Majestic Hotel.

—The allied and Communist sides each may bring 10-12 persons.

—Business can be conducted in English, Vietnamese and French.

—Tape recorders will be admitted.

—Newsmen will not be admitted.

Vance and Lau each scored points in these procedural agreements, which left some leeway for individual definition.

The Americans see the speaker arangement as two spokesman on each of two sides, one each for Washington, Saigon, Hanoi and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The Americans see the conference makeup as two delegations of 10 to 12 members each, while Hanoi views it as four delegations of five to six persons each.

From the U.S. standpoint, Vance won the agreement to keep newsmen out of the first rule-making meeting. The North Vietnamese said they wanted the press admitted, but the Americans feel the Communists will be more inclined to reach a reasonable compromise without the opportunity to make public statements.

The shape of the conference table, although a seemingly trivial issue, is one which the rivals feel could be translated into a bargaining advantage later on. Consequently there has been no breakthrough on this point.

The Communists want a square table, whose equal sides would fit their claim that the NLF has equal status in a foursided conference.

The United States wants two long tables each facing each other, to support its claim that the parley is composed of two sides. The allies do not recognize the NLF, which the Saigon government regards as an outlaw tool of Hanoi.

Chief U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman is due back tonight from a short Washington visit.

700 Names on Petition For Elderly Care Center

ORAN -- Petitions calling for a care center for the elderly to be built near the center of Scott county, have reached 700 signatures, according to Abram Hirschowitz.

Needed to place the building of a new home on the ballot are 1,000 signatures.

Hirschowitz asks that completed petitions be given to Hess Porter, county treasurer, at Benton.

A nursing home district was formed early this year to include all city and towns in Scott county with a total valuation of $52 million.

When placed on the ballot the proposal will call for construction of 150-bed nursing home, paid from revenue bonds only. Costs of operation would be borne by patients and funds from the county court designated for patient care.

Hirschowitz gave as an example Sunset home in Maysville, DeKalb county, where a 50-bed unit has been expanded to almost three times its original size. It is maintained almost entirely from rental money.

Home county patients come first, with no long waiting period needed for a patient to enter. An article in the Missouri Ruralist described the DeKalb County facility.

School Issues Debated

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) - Delegates to the Governor's Conference on Education worked their way today through more than 50 amendments to proposed recommendations for improving Missouri's educational program from kindergarten through junior college.

Keystones of the program are increased state financial aid for the schools and higher taxes to pay the bill.

Some of the amendments would confine the levy increases to the sales and income taxes. Others would exempt food, clothing and medicines from any sales tax boost.

One would increase taxes on luxuries and another on cigarettes, liquor and soft drinks.

Some amendments stuck to the original plan of raising state aid to schools to 50 per cent of the operational cost but did not agree on how the state money should be allocated.

Discussions of amendments were limited, allowing speakers only time to explain an amendment and urge either its adoption or its defeat.

Voting on the recommendations and proposed amnedments was secret and the result probably won't be announced before Tuesday.

The recommendations go to the governor and to the Legislature. The governor can make any changes he sees fit and the Legislature can reject both the conference recommendations and the governor's if it wants to.

A big item in the conference will be the members' ability to go back home and start convincing other taxpayers that the needs of education require their acceptance of higher taxation.

U.S. Reconnaissance Reports 461 Cases of Enemy Activity in DMZ Since Bombing Halt

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today American reconnaissance uncovered at least 461 indications of enemy activity in the demilitarized zone since the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam Nov. 1.

Only 36 of the sightings revealed what the command termed "significant' enemy action. But 128 were serious enough to warrant retaliatory fire from American planes, artillery and warships, the command said.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, said earlier this week there was a clear agreement before President Johnson ordered the bombing halt that serious negotiations could not continue if the enemy abused the DMZ or shelled major cities.

Radio Hanoi charged today that U.S. warplanes bombed an agricultural cooperative and a hamlet in North Vietnam Dec. 3, killing more than 30 North Vietnamese.

The report by the "Commission for Investigation of U.S. Imperialists' War Crimes" claimed American planes have made seven bombing raids against North Vietnamese provinces since Nov. 1, and artillery and naval guns have fired 81 rounds at targets in the Vinh Linh area.

South Vietnamese headquarters said today there have been 122 shellings of provincial capitals and district towns since Nov. 1. Fifty-six civilians have been killed and 498 wounded in the attacks.

Most of the population centers reported shelled also are military centers.

U.S. headquarters said three significant incidents occurred in the southern portion of the DMZ Friday when American artillery silenced a machine-gun emplacement and pounded two North Vietnamese troop positions in the zone.

A military spokesman said airborne and ground observers spotted groups of 31 and six North Vietnamese soldiers, and artillery blasted the target positions. The spokesman said the enemy troops threw up a smoke screen, and observers were unable to see if any troops were killed in the barrages.

There were no reports of major ground fighting in South Vietnam today. Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese infantrymen, backed by American helicopter gunships, killed 39 enemy soldiers and captured 10 others in fighting 24 miles west northwest of Saigon. No allied casualties were reported.

Military spokesmen said American B52 bombers continued their daily raids against enemy strongholds north and northwest of Saigon. Twentyeight Stratofortresses dropped 720 tons of bombs on Viet Cong base camps and supply depots within 30 miles of Saigon, the spokesmen said.

In Paris, deputy chief U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, reached agreement Friday on seven procedural points for the first expanded peace talks session.

It will be restricted to procedural debate; the allies and the Communists each will be allowed to have 10-12 delegates; there will be two spokesmen on each side, or one speaker for each of the four participating groups; the session will be held at the Majestic Hotel, scene of prior U.S.-North Vietnamese talks; business can be conducted in English, Vietnamese or French; tape recorders will be admitted, but newsmen will not.

The date of the first conference and the shape of the conference table still have not been agreed on. The latter is viewed as a major issue because both sides feel it may be translated into a bargaining advantage.

Parking Meter Ring Smashed

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-two city parking meter collectors and truck drivers have been arrested in the breakup of a ring that reportedly stole $5 million in coins from parking meters over the past four years.

City Investigation Commissioner Arnold G. Fraiman said detectives from his office seized the suspects Friday when the drivers and collectors completed their rounds and returned to a city garage.

Fraiman said one of the suspects was carrying burglar tools and that the other 21 were carrying from $150 to $1,000 each in dimes and quarters.

The commissioner said the detectives investigated the ring by posing as meter collectors. He said the investigation was launched in February after officials in the city finance administrator's office started noticing "certain irregularities" in meter collections, such as fluctuations in the amounts collected.

Seven of the arrested employes were collectors and 15 were truck drivers. Twenty-one of the suspects were charged with larceny and possession of burglar tools, and one was charged only with possession of burglary tools.

Star-Gazer Satellite in Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A two-ton astronomical observatory carrying 11 telescopes rocketed into space early today to study the stars and perhaps uncover clues to the origin of the universe.

The star-gazer satellite rode atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket that rumbled off a Cape Kennedy launch pad at 3:40 a.m. EST, brilliantly illuminating the early morning sky.

The booster sped high over the Atlantic Ocean, pushing the $75-million payload toward a circular orbit 480 miles high.

The satellite, the second orbiting astronomical observatory, is the heaviest and most complex scientific satellite ever launched by the United States.

Operating above the obscuring blanket of earth's atmosphere, the observatory is intended to provide astronomers with their first unobstructed glimpse at the universe—exploring the mysteries of stars, galaxies, nebulae and interstellar gases.

Space center officials said the craft achieved orbit.

Memorial Service Honors Men Killed at Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — America remembered its fighting men killed during the Pearl Harbor attack 27 years ago with a special memorial service today at the USS Arizona memorial.

Representatives of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders were among those at services on the gleaming white memorial which straddles the sunken battleship.

Normally the only memorial programs held aboard the white monument are on Memorial Day. But Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius granted special authorization for today's rites.

John L. O'Brien of the Washington state House of Representatives, president of the legislative leaders, presented a plaque to Rear Adm. Fred E. Bakutis, commander of the 14th Naval District, Pearl Harbor.

The plaque, which will be placed in the Arizona memorial's museum area said:

"To the men of the U.S. armed forces who died on Dec. 7, 1941: In peace you served as our defenders; in battle our protectors; in death, our reminder that liberty is our greatest strength. We salute you."

A Marine, Cpl. Phillip Salmon of Muskogee, Okla., and a sailor, Boatswain's Mate 1.C. Paul Whittleton of Wedgefield, S.C., carried a large white carnation and lavender orchid floral wreath to O'Brien and Stewart Lamprey, incoming president of the legislative leaders. Lamprey is president of the New Hampshire state senate.

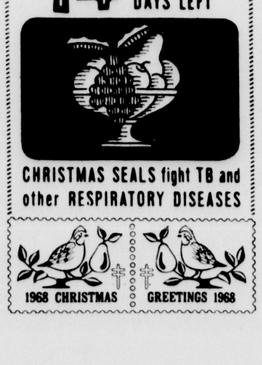

The floral display was dropped in the waters over the sunken battleship. The rainbow-colored oil rings, which still surface from the submerged vessel, blended with the floating wreath.

The legislative leaders attending the ceremony included delegates from every state as well as Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The 15-minute ceremony closed with the firing of three volleys by the Marine Corps riflemen and the playing of echo taps. There were no speeches.

The Arizona rests in 38 feet of water at the bottom of Pearl Harbor. The monument over it was dedicated in 1962. More than 222,600 people visited the memorial so far this year.

A large marble wall in the shrine room of the memorial is engraved with the names of the 1,177 Navy and Marine Corps officers and men who were killed in the attack. There are 1,100 men entombed in the sunken ship.

Nixon Considering Radio-TV Announcement of Cabinet

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon is considering a national television-radio appearance next week to announce his cabinet.

Sources close to Nixon said today he has not definitely decided on a format for announcing his cabinet choices. But they said such a radio-TV appearance was being given serious thought.

Nixon has said all cabinet choices will be announced in the coming week. The decision apparently depended on whether Nixon could line up an entire cabinet in time.

Sources close to the president-elect said Friday night Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, had removed himself from contention as a possible secretary of Defense.

Nixon came here to attend the annual meeting of the Republican Governors Association.

Speaking briefly Friday night, the incoming president said the United States has the wealth to be the best fed, best housed nation the world has ever known—and to share its prosperity "more equally than any people have ever shared."

He said "we're going to see to it" that Americans now fighting in Vietnam come home to a nation which can be united with opportunity for all people.

Nixon, flying back to New York today, was not expected to reveal his cabinet picks until Tuesday, at the earliest.

However, Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California made no secret of the fact that his longtime friend had offered him a cabinet job—perhaps as secretary of health, education and welfare. He did not pinpoint the job.

Finch said Thursday that Nixon was considering a major overhaul of cabinet departments sometime after taking office Jan. 20. Finch suggested that the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Housing and Urban Development, and Transportation might be amalgamated into a department of human resources. He said the old-line departments of agriculture and interior might be combined in a new department of natural resources.

Winton M. Blount, 46-year-old Montgomery, Ala., businessman and president of the national Chamber of Commerce, was reported to be in line for the job of postmaster general.

Blount, president of Blount Brothers Corp., Montgomery, is a builder of many multimillion dollar projects ranging from industrial plants to missile defense and space administration installations.

Discussions of amendments were limited, allowing speakers only time to explain an amendment and urge either its adoption or its defeat.

Voting on the recommendations and proposed amnedments was secret and the result probably won't be announced before Tuesday.

The recommendations go to the governor and to the Legislature. The governor can make any changes he sees fit and the Legislature can reject both the conference recommendations and the governor's if it wants to.

A big item in the conference will be the members' ability to go back home and start convincing other taxpayers that the needs of education require their acceptance of higher taxation.

U.S. Reconnaissance Reports 461 Cases of Enemy Activity in DMZ Since Bombing Halt

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today American reconnaissance uncovered at least 461 indications of enemy activity in the demilitarized zone since the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam Nov. 1.

Only 36 of the sightings revealed what the command termed "significant' enemy action. But 128 were serious enough to warrant retaliatory fire from American planes, artillery and warships, the command said.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, said earlier this week there was a clear agreement before President Johnson ordered the bombing halt that serious negotiations could not continue if the enemy abused the DMZ or shelled major cities.

Radio Hanoi charged today that U.S. warplanes bombed an agricultural cooperative and a hamlet in North Vietnam Dec. 3, killing more than 30 North Vietnamese.

The report by the "Commission for Investigation of U.S. Imperialists' War Crimes" claimed American planes have made seven bombing raids against North Vietnamese provinces since Nov. 1, and artillery and naval guns have fired 81 rounds at targets in the Vinh Linh area.

South Vietnamese headquarters said today there have been 122 shellings of provincial capitals and district towns since Nov. 1. Fifty-six civilians have been killed and 498 wounded in the attacks.

Most of the population centers reported shelled also are military centers.

U.S. headquarters said three significant incidents occurred in the southern portion of the DMZ Friday when American artillery silenced a machine-gun emplacement and pounded two North Vietnamese troop positions in the zone.

A military spokesman said airborne and ground observers spotted groups of 31 and six North Vietnamese soldiers, and artillery blasted the target positions. The spokesman said the enemy troops threw up a smoke screen, and observers were unable to see if any troops were killed in the barrages.

There were no reports of major ground fighting in South Vietnam today. Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese infantrymen, backed by American helicopter gunships, killed 39 enemy soldiers and captured 10 others in fighting 24 miles west northwest of Saigon. No allied casualties were reported.

Military spokesmen said American B52 bombers continued their daily raids against enemy strongholds north and northwest of Saigon. Twentyeight Stratofortresses dropped 720 tons of bombs on Viet Cong base camps and supply depots within 30 miles of Saigon, the spokesmen said.

In Paris, deputy chief U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, reached agreement Friday on seven procedural points for the first expanded peace talks session.

It will be restricted to procedural debate; the allies and the Communists each will be allowed to have 10-12 delegates; there will be two spokesmen on each side, or one speaker for each of the four participating groups; the session will be held at the Majestic Hotel, scene of prior U.S.-North Vietnamese talks; business can be conducted in English, Vietnamese or French; tape recorders will be admitted, but newsmen will not.

The date of the first conference and the shape of the conference table still have not been agreed on. The latter is viewed as a major issue because both sides feel it may be translated into a bargaining advantage.

Parking Meter Ring Smashed

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-two city parking meter collectors and truck drivers have been arrested in the breakup of a ring that reportedly stole $5 million in coins from parking meters over the past four years.

City Investigation Commissioner Arnold G. Fraiman said detectives from his office seized the suspects Friday when the drivers and collectors completed their rounds and returned to a city garage.

Fraiman said one of the suspects was carrying burglar tools and that the other 21 were carrying from $150 to $1,000 each in dimes and quarters.

The commissioner said the detectives investigated the ring by posing as meter collectors. He said the investigation was launched in February after officials in the city finance administrator's office started noticing "certain irregularities" in meter collections, such as fluctuations in the amounts collected.

Seven of the arrested employes were collectors and 15 were truck drivers. Twenty-one of the suspects were charged with larceny and possession of burglar tools, and one was charged only with possession of burglary tools.

Star-Gazer Satellite in Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A two-ton astronomical observatory carrying 11 telescopes rocketed into space early today to study the stars and perhaps uncover clues to the origin of the universe.

The star-gazer satellite rode atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket that rumbled off a Cape Kennedy launch pad at 3:40 a.m. EST, brilliantly illuminating the early morning sky.

The booster sped high over the Atlantic Ocean, pushing the $75-million payload toward a circular orbit 480 miles high.

The satellite, the second orbiting astronomical observatory, is the heaviest and most complex scientific satellite ever launched by the United States.

Operating above the obscuring blanket of earth's atmosphere, the observatory is intended to provide astronomers with their first unobstructed glimpse at the universe—exploring the mysteries of stars, galaxies, nebulae and interstellar gases.

Space center officials said the craft achieved orbit.

Thurmond Engaged to Beauty Queen

AIKEN, S.C. (AP) - The engagement of a former Miss South Carolina, Nancy Janice Moore, 22, and South Carolina Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond, 66, was announced today by her parents.

The brown-haired Aiken beauty, who represented the state in the Miss America contest of 1965, said "we just aren't sure when we will have the wedding."

Thurmond, a widower, referred all questions to his fiancee, but indicated the wedding might be before the first of the year.

The two got to know each other "when I was a Senate interm in his office in Washington for four weeks in the summer of 1966," Miss Moore said. Then in 1967 she worked for three months full time in his Washington office.

Thurmond, a strong backer of Richard M. Nixon during the recent presidential campaign, was married in 1947 to 21-year-old Jean Crouch, who had worked in his office while he was governor. She died of a brain disease on Jan. 6, 1960.

Memorial Service Honors Men Killed at Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — America remembered its fighting men killed during the Pearl Harbor attack 27 years ago with a special memorial service today at the USS Arizona memorial.

Representatives of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders were among those at services on the gleaming white memorial which straddles the sunken battleship.

Normally the only memorial programs held aboard the white monument are on Memorial Day. But Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius granted special authorization for today's rites.

John L. O'Brien of the Washington state House of Representatives, president of the legislative leaders, presented a plaque to Rear Adm. Fred E. Bakutis, commander of the 14th Naval District, Pearl Harbor.

The plaque, which will be placed in the Arizona memorial's museum area said:

"To the men of the U.S. armed forces who died on Dec. 7, 1941: In peace you served as our defenders; in battle our protectors; in death, our reminder that liberty is our greatest strength. We salute you."

A Marine, Cpl. Phillip Salmon of Muskogee, Okla., and a sailor, Boatswain's Mate 1.C. Paul Whittleton of Wedgefield, S.C., carried a large white carnation and lavender orchid floral wreath to O'Brien and Stewart Lamprey, incoming president of the legislative leaders. Lamprey is president of the New Hampshire state senate.

The floral display was dropped in the waters over the sunken battleship. The rainbow-colored oil rings, which still surface from the submerged vessel, blended with the floating wreath.

The legislative leaders attending the ceremony included delegates from every state as well as Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The 15-minute ceremony closed with the firing of three volleys by the Marine Corps riflemen and the playing of echo taps. There were no speeches.

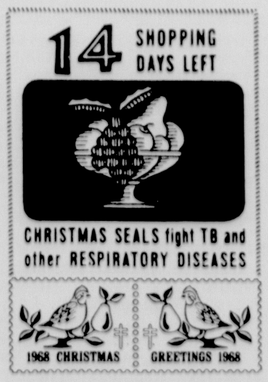

The Arizona rests in 38 feet of water at the bottom of Pearl Harbor. The monument over it was dedicated in 1962. More than 222,600 people visited the memorial so far this year.

A large marble wall in the shrine room of the memorial is engraved with the names of the 1,177 Navy and Marine Corps officers and men who were killed in the attack. There are 1,100 men entombed in the sunken ship.

Nixon Considering Radio-TV Announcement of Cabinet

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon is considering a national television-radio appearance next week to announce his cabinet.

Sources close to Nixon said today he has not definitely decided on a format for announcing his cabinet choices. But they said such a radio-TV appearance was being given serious thought.

Nixon has said all cabinet choices will be announced in the coming week. The decision apparently depended on whether Nixon could line up an entire cabinet in time.

Sources close to the president-elect said Friday night Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, had removed himself from contention as a possible secretary of Defense.

Nixon came here to attend the annual meeting of the Republican Governors Association.

Speaking briefly Friday night, the incoming president said the United States has the wealth to be the best fed, best housed nation the world has ever known—and to share its prosperity "more equally than any people have ever shared."

He said "we're going to see to it" that Americans now fighting in Vietnam come home to a nation which can be united with opportunity for all people.

Nixon, flying back to New York today, was not expected to reveal his cabinet picks until Tuesday, at the earliest.

However, Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California made no secret of the fact that his longtime friend had offered him a cabinet job—perhaps as secretary of health, education and welfare. He did not pinpoint the job.

Finch said Thursday that Nixon was considering a major overhaul of cabinet departments sometime after taking office Jan. 20. Finch suggested that the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Housing and Urban Development, and Transportation might be amalgamated into a department of human resources. He said the old-line departments of agriculture and interior might be combined in a new department of natural resources.

Winton M. Blount, 46-year-old Montgomery, Ala., businessman and president of the national Chamber of Commerce, was reported to be in line for the job of postmaster general.

Blount, president of Blount Brothers Corp., Montgomery, is a builder of many multimillion dollar projects ranging from industrial plants to missile defense and space administration installations.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:

These are difficult days for an editorial writer. There are two many greys and too few blacks and whites.

An example is the proposal that many holidays observed annually in the United States be incorporated into weekends.

This is desirable.

We favor it.

A holiday in the middle of the week isn't useful and it disrupts the week for all business operations. By making holidays fall near the weekend annually Americans are permitted to enjoy longer periods of relaxation.

So far so good but how about the hazard to human life and property?

On Thanksgiving Day automobiles were traveling in the 60-80 mile-an-hour range almost bumper to bumper on Interstate 55 between Sikeston and Cape Girardeau.

This is not a regional or local situation. All the interstates, toll roads, turnpikes and major highways were clogged with speeding cars.

Think of the increased hazard to human life if Thanksgiving Day had been tied into a weekend.

Thousands more would have taken to the nation's highways. The congestion would have increased. The death and destruction would soar.

It isn't pleasant to contemplate.

It is a fine thing giving Americans what they want.

But it may be a better thing to save them from self destruction.

Staying at home isn't a guarantee of security. Home accidents take a big toll of lives every year.

It's hard to know which way to jump.

WHO PAYS THE BILLS?

Three Ohio school districts will close down in the next two weeks. The first will be Youngstown, where 28,000 pupils will be turned out of classes from Wednesday (Nov. 27) until Jan. 2. Four more districts may have to shut down for lack of money.

Taxpayers don't want to pay the bills. That's the logical reading of the Nov. 5 election results.

Of a proposed total of more than $9 billion in bonds put up to the voters on election day, The Wall Street Journal estimates that at least 42 per cent, and possibly more, was rejected. In normal times - for example, the years 1964 to 1967 -- between 73 per cent and 77 per cent of bond issues were approved.

Richard L. Strout reports: "Taxpayers tossed overboard bond proposals for better schools, hospitals, antipollution devices, parks, and mass transit systems." Congressional Quarterly suggests, moreover, that in the 1968 session of Congress "a broad agreement also developed that the federal government should have a role in providing financial assistance to states and localities for a variety of programs."

The record of Nov. 5 is mixed, but the general verdict of the taxpayers was, in the words of Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island -- who incidentally was a defeated Republican -- "a mandate not to spend."

Virginia by landslide proportions scrapped its pay-as-you-go fiscal policy of more than 40 years and authorized the issuance of $81 million in bonds for higher education and hospitals. "Over and over," the Richmond Times-Dispatch reported, "(administration leaders) emphasized that failure of the bond issue would force the state either to ignore critical needs or to authorize another tax increase."

Alaska voters accepted all but one of eight bond issues for a total of almost $50 million, including $10 million for schools and $8.5 million for the University of Alaska. Suburban communities surrounding Washington, D. C. approved $208 million in general-obligation bonds for a rapid-transit system. New Jersey voters approved bond issues involving $990 million, the biggest total ever.

But Los Angeles voters turned down a proposed $2.5 billion county rapid-transit issue. Rhode Island defeated a $10 million loan for hospitals. Oregon rejected $30 million for ocean-beach parklands. The taxpayers, on a general basis, went out on strike.

The significance of Nov. 5 will be seen in January. Most state legislatures will be meeting in 1969. In almost every state the lawmakers will be facing the problem of raising more money. Although the federal government currently collects about two-thirds of all taxes, the fastest-growing area of taxation has been at the state and local levels.

Schools are the concern almost everywhere. Pupils in New York City will have to give up 10 holidays and put in longer hours to make up for a 36-day teachers' strike. The trouble in Ohio has been failure of voters in referenda to approve tax rate increases for school costs. The districts are temporarily broke.

State and city debts have skyrocketed since World War II, but federal debt has gone up only about 20 per cent. In the cities, according to a study by Prof. Richard Netzer of New York University for the National Commission on Urban Problems, property taxes fall heaviest on the poor. They amount to a sales tax, he estimates, of as much as 24 per cent on slum housing. In the fact of a general taxpayer revolt, this kind of analysis is most disturbing.

THE GREAT PARTS OF THE COUNTRY

The Senate antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D Mich.) on Tuesday (Dec.3) begins hearings on the automobile repair business.

That radio advertising jingle about the great parts of the country soon may have an ironic sound. Three inquiries under way in Washington promise to show that automobile parts are expensive and that the warranties system for new cars needs amending.

One report attributes to so-called flat rate manuals -- used by both dealers and independent garages for repairs pricing - the fact that an expensive Ford model costs $4,000, "but the parts that go into that automobile, run to $22,000."

The Federal Trade Commission on Nov. 7 released a staff study that stated: "Many new cars are delivered to the buyer in poor condition..; car owners experience difficulties having repairs made simply and expeditiously often causing them great inconvenience; workmanship in warranty repair work is frequently shoddy; and exclusions, limitations and conditions in the warranties are not made clear to purchasers." This report was held in secret -- though shown to the industry -- until Ralph Nader, frequent critic of government consumer protection methods, got a copy and handed it around.

Automobile sales in October ran higher than in any month ever before. Early in November, production set the records. The 2-millionth 1969 model was built on Nov. 9, the earliest date in history. At that, several plants were idled by strikes.

But Impact, a business letter circulated by banks, warns that, seasonally adjusted, October sales "weren't all that great after all." Auto sales may turn down for the rest of the year and early into 1969.

The sales rate hardly reflects consumer foot-dragging. Yet, according to Newsweek magazine, buyers have reason to beware - "Since 1966, Detroit has recalled 3.5 million cars for possible safety defects."

The investigating spree mentioned above began with a nine-month staff study by the Senate antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D Mich.). The group is interested in repair costs on old and new cars. Citing the Federal Trade Commission report, Sen. Hart on Nov. 7 said: "Warranty service makes up less than 10 per cent of the auto repair market. We are interested in warranty repairs chiefly for the effect they may have on the cost of the other 90 per cent."

The FTC's own hearings on new-car warranties begin on Jan. 9. Manufacturers' warranties on 1969-model autos provide in general for repair or replacement of defective parts within one year or 12,000 miles, and cover power-train parts for five years or 50,000 miles. Warranties generally were more liberal for pre-1969 models. About 130,000 of the country's 150,000 garages are independents. The others are dealers or mass merchandisers, like Sears Roebuck and Co.

Meanwhile, the Department of Transportation is having a study of garage repair and dealer warranties made for it by Operations Research, Inc. A report is due by the middle of 1969. The study is part of the department's overall inquiry into the automobile insurance industry. It may indicate the degree to which discounts are allowed to insurance companies and fleet owners as opposed to private operators.

True to Her Word

THE RULER OF AN ancient Kingdom wanted to disprove the statement that the men of his domain were ruled by their wives. He had all the males in his kingdom brought before him and warned that any man who did not tell the truth would be punished severely.

Then he asked all the men who obeyed their wives' directions and counsel to step to the left side of the hall. All the men did so. That is, all but one little man who moved to the right.

"It is good to see," said the king, "that we have one real man in the kingdom. Tell these chicken-hearted dunces why you alone among them stand on the right side of the hall."

"Sire," came the reply in a squeaky voice, "it is because before I left home my wife told me to keep out of crowds."

'Pogo' Simulates Hopping on Moon

Kangaroo-hopping will be the best way to get around the surface of the moon, where the tug of gravity is only one-sixth that on earth, according to scientists at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Housto.

The astronauts are getting practical experience in just how it will feel, thanks to the new piston device that they call the "pogo."

The pogo -- technically known as the partial gravity simulator -- is one of the devices used in attempting to solve some of the problems caused by weightlessness. Spacemen will be faced with these problems for long periods during extended space flights, when they will be completely weightless, and while on the moon's surface, when they will be almost weightless.

Harold I. Johnson, the engineer who designed the pogo, says that it gives a man "the feeling of moving under lunar conditions, where he has to learn new balancing techniques and how fast to move without falling down.

The astronauts work in a room that can be blacked to resemble the dark-side of the moon. A spotlight can be turned on to simulate the brightness and apparent size of the sun as viewed from the moon. Mr. Johnson also can turn on the earth -- a lighted photo shot from a satellite 22,500 miles.

COMPUTERS GO DOWN TO SEA IN SHIPS OF COAST GUARD

The U.S. Coast Guard's weather cutter fleet will get computers to gather data for weather forecasting and airborne target tracking, it was disclosed.

Caost Guard headquarters in Norfolk, Va., said 39 ocean station cutters will be outfitted with Honeywell computers as part of a vertical-tracking radar system.

Computer tests aboard the Cutter Chincoteague have been successfully completed. The service's first general-purpose shipboard computers will be installed beginning next year, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard will apply computers to many of its activities at sea. Satellites already in orbit can used to feed data to the computer fo navigational fixes. Also, data obtained from oceanographic observations can be reduced at sea using the computer.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say Nixon-Rockefeller get-together notably lacked cordiality; Nixon ignored Rocky as cabinet prospect; President-elect can't afford to allienate GOP liberals

--Dwindling French Gold--

On May 29, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that "De Gaulle's gold reserve is certain to vanish. He will have to spend the gold that he is hording to support the franc. Already there is heavy traffic across the Swiss border by Frenchmen who want to put their money in Swiss francs for safekeeping. It's sure to increase."

In the last 10 days there have been various emerging moves to support the franc.

WASHINGTON---What took place at the recent meeting between President-Elect Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller explains why Press Secretary Ron Ziegler tried to conceal the meeting from newsmen. It was cool, polite, fairly brief, and not at all conducive to keeping the two great wings of the Republican party united.

Gov. Rockefeller, who leads the Progressive Liberal wing, came away unhappy. He is not saying so publicly, but the meeting climaxed a chain of events which at times have made the most important Republican Governor in the east boiling mad.

The friction began last summer when Nixon let Sen. Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina Dixiecrat, veto a liberal northerner to be Vice President. Gov. Rockefeller was not irked because Thurmond vetoed him, but because all other northern liberals, including Sen. Mark Hatfield, Ore., Sen. Charles Percy, Ill., and Mayor John Lindsay of New York were vetoed.

Not long after the Miami convention, Rockefeller was approached by Vice President Humphrey to run on a coalition Democratic-Republican ticket. It was a tempting offer, because a coalition was almost sure to win. But Rockefeller remained loyal to Nixon. He turned the offer down. The Governor of New York expected, following this, to be consulted regarding Nixon's campaign strategy. He was hardly consulted at all. He delivered all the speeches he was requested to make, plus some on his own. But he was not called upon for advice on strategy. Furthermore, he was flabbergasted when Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, the Vice Presidential running mate, came into New York State to speak at a dinner given by the conservative party. The conservative party in New York has done its best to cut Rocky's throat. Yet Nixon's running mate came to help it raise funds.

--No Cabinet offer--

All this preceded the at-first hush-hush meeting at the hotel Pierre at which Nixon did not offer the head of the liberal wing of the Republican party even a minor cabinet post. Rockefeller had wanted to be either Secretary of State or Secretary of Defense.

He had served as assistant Secretary of State, as a White House aide under Ike and had published the "Rockefeller Brothers Report," a comprehensive study on the American Defense and Missile Lag. Yet Nixon ignored Rockefeller's desire to head the State or defense departments.

He did not even offer the Governor a post as Secretary of hew of Housing and Urban Development, though Rockefeller served as under secretary of HEW in the Eisenhower cabinet and is an expert on big-city problems. Instead Nixon offered Nelso the job of representing the United States at the U. N. a job which has already been downgraded. Rockefeller refused.

The alienation of the Governor, while not complete, could be serious. Nixon must make progress in the big cities, which largely voted against him, if he is to prevent increasing national disunity and curtail crime in the streets. This was one of his key campaign pledges. To carry it out, he sorely needs the support of GOP liberals of whom Rockefeller is the 1A leader.

--Nixon-Rocky Rivalry--

he differences between Nixon and Rockefeller are based on a long series of policy clashes dating back to when Nixon was in Congress and voted consistently with the conservative wing of the Republican party. He voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, which labor hated. He was one of only three senators who voted to kill the civil rights bill in committee in 1951. Rockefeller has been championed by labor and is a strong civil rights advocate.

Nixon also voted against aid to Korea in 1949 and against military aid to Western Europe. Rockefeller was an original proponent of military aid to Western Europe. Belatedly Nixon has proposed strenghtening NATO.

Nixon was a great champion of Joe McCarthy and did his best to rescue McCarthy during the army McCarth hearings which led up to McCarthy's censure. Rockefeller was aconsistent critic of McCarthy and McCarthyism.

While Liberal Republicans, led by Senators, Javits and Keating of New York and case of New Jersey, all strong Rockefeller supporters, tried to reorganize the Senate to give it liberal GOP leadership, Nixon threw his weight behind conservative Senators and defeated them.

Regarding education, Nixon as Vice President, broke a tie vote in the Senate in 1960 to defeat the aid-to-education bill.

In recent months liberal Republicans have been inclined to forgive and forget this background. They have been hoping that the new Nixon would weld the party together.

Republican Liberals also remember that midnight meeting in July, 1960, just before the Republican convention in Chicago, when Nixon very much needed Rockefeller's support to get the GOP nomination. He drove to New York and met secretly with Rockefeller in the latter's fifth avenue apartment where he promised that if Rocky would support him for President in 1960, he, Nixon, would turn around and support Rockefeller in 1964 or later.

But when 1964 rolled around and Rockefeller made a bid for the Republican nomination at San Fancisco, Nixon backed Barry Goldwater.

These are some of the deep-rooted factors which have disturbed prominent liberal repulbicans. Though they knew of Nixon's 1960 pledge to support Rockefeller in 1964, they urged Rocky to support Nixon after the Miami convention. He did, and liberal republicans resent Nixon's failure to appreciate this facts. As a result, bitterness is smoldering inside the GOP which doesn't look to good for long-range Republican unity.

BILLIONS FOR DEGRADATION

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

AMERICA'S poor relief program needs to be put on high jacks and a new chassis ran under it.

It is a failure, not in detail, but in general. It is producing less uplift than degradation. It generates not climbers, but sitters. It compounds the problems it is designed to eradicate.

The intentions were wonderful, but the hangup arose in the article of faith that a man could not be considered a lover of mankind if he did not accept the dogma that no man wants chairty if opportunity is available.

This, alas, is not true. There is nothing "liberal" about self-delusion. As relief produced sloth and dependency, the only cure the dogmatists could think of what more relief.

THE RESULT has been a mess. In a recent speech M.A. (Mike) Wright, chairman of the board of the Humble Oil and Refining Co., urged the American business community to get involved in solving our relief ills, not simply because of the cost, which is bad enough, but in the interest of restoring the self-respect of millions.

Look at the statistics:

In 1940, when we were just crawling out of the Great Depression, the federal government's expenditure for social welfare programs, including social insurance, was just under $9 billion, or 9% of the gross national product.

Last year the government put out $100 billion, 13% of the GNP and about 42% of expenditures for all purposes. In New York City, alone, 870,000 people are now on welfare.

IN THE LATE '30s there was a shortage of jobs of all kinds. Today the big apartment projects rising across the Potomac from Washington display signs pleading for common labor. Last year in the wooded hill country of southeast Oklahoma I watched women running fork-lift trucks in a lumber mill. Although 30% of the population of that county is on assistance, men cannot be hired.

You can't blame all the reliefers. Under present regulations in many states relief payments are reduced dollar-for-dollar for the amount of income earned. How many of us nonreliefers would work under a 100% income tax?

But worse, we penalize responsibility and reward irresponsibility. Take a man living with and supporting his family who is in eligible for any relief because he earns $3,400 a year. But if he moves out and starts sleeping around he keeps his $3,400 and his wife gets $2,000 for aid to the dependent children. Thus the taxpayers put up a $2,000 move-out bonus.

LYNDON JOHNSON'S much heralded war on poverty (when was the last time you heard it mentioned?) was, perhaps, the most wasteful fiasco in American history. It sought to drown what the Southerner calls "poor ways" in a crash outpouring of money. It trained chambermaids at a higher per capita cost than Harvard trains medical studeIt brought notorious hoodlums in as administrators, apparently on the theory that the way to tame 'em was to pay 'em. Even the most doctrinaire sociologist must have learned a lot from the poverty program.

And there are, indeed, many alternate proposals now being pushed. There are the straight guarantee of a minimum family income and the negative income tax. These would certainly eliminate much of the snooping. But how would we handle the head of the household who spends his federal subsidy on women, liquor and horses, and leaves his family to starve? Do we send two checks? WE WILL probably eventually discover that there is no uplift in any system that rewards no-work as well as work. Contrary to the idealists, many people will not struggle to get off relief as a matter of pride. They need solider incentives.

We are certainly going to have to quit reducing relief payments by the exact amount of earnings. And we will probably have to set up a vast system of public works--a new WPA, if you will--in which able--bodied people with no other jobs will be required to put in 40 hours a week raking leaves, beautifying highways, digging garbage pits or anything else for the public weal.

The man is rare who will willingly work for a year to make $100 more than his lazy neighbor who has no appointment until the bars open. We've got to get the neighbor out working, too, and hard enough so that the "help-wanted" sign hung out by private enterprise begins to look interesting. Otherwise, we will all be poorer.

As any bee can tell you, there is no honey in a hiveful of drones.

Inside Labor

Under Reverend King's Banner: Militant Labor Chiefs Launching National Drive To Unionize Thousands of Hospitals

New York: -- On this beat, it is the fashion of turbulent history to begin unheralded in some obscure loft-like side street office, and then crescendo until it shakes the nation -- as did a garbage strike or two. There is a new "proletariat." It is black -- and mostly ununionized. In many a union headquarters, techniques are now being sketched to organize "the new working class" by the millions.

Over on 43rd Street here, in an office of what the late Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. called "his favorite union," just such an organizing drive is being laid out.

This newest of drives will be aimed at the hundreds of thousands of hospital workers, first in the Northeast, then in the near Midwest, and finally in the South.

This campaign will shake many of the cities in which are virtually all of the land's 7,200 hospitals.

This drive will also stir loud cries from the operators of thousands of nursing homes and institutions in which live the aging and infirm. The push is aimed at any and all of the hospitals not now under contract with other unions. This leaves quite a field, since only 350 of the land's 10,000 to 12.000 hospitals and nursing homes have been unionized.

Every ununionized hospital will be inside the target area -- which will include the voluntary, the religious, the municipal, and federal centers of healing.

Behind this campaign is a union long accustomed to shaking, rattling, pushing, mass picketing, marching, demonstrating, and shouting down "the bosses." It is the union of 56-year-old Leon Davis, an old CIO militant who foresees a revival of the "spirit of the thirties," when John L. Lewis led the final struggle agains the nation's giant industries and Walter Reuther imported the sit-in Labor Action (ALA).

In turn Mr. Davis, always a conditioned reflex bargainer, has demanded sole jurisdiction over the hospitals and nursing homes of America. Quite a tempting field. By the last count, there are some 3,600 voluntary hospitals. No one has counted the nursing homes, which no pop up like Beatles records.

In these hospitals and homes, there are well over one million emplo8yes -- some 85 to 90 per cent of whom are black or Puerto Rican.

Should Mr. Davis' "Local 1199" (a phrase soon to be as much as household word nationally as it is in New York) succeed, it would be the world's biggest black union, though it has its share of Puerto Rican and white members. Its membership is now 50,000.

It was Reverend King who rallied to this union long before he marched on Memphis. His voice still is heard in this union's balls and members' homes, for his speech has been preserved in a long-playing record.

And now his disciples are being trained for the drive. The Reverend Ralph Abernathy has sent ten of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference field workers up from Atlanta for orgniazing training. They are to learn how to be the advance guard of the new drive -- especially in the South.

Wherever they go, they will carry the voice and banner of Reverend King. But the quiet drive, which union leaders insist is an un-campaign, has not waited upon the newly arrived SCLC trainees. There is a brand new National Organizing Committee of Hospital and Nursing Home Employes operating out of West 43rd Street. Even before its initials could be strung together as NOCHNHE, the newest labor acrostic, the union began spreading beyond its New York base, first into New Jersey and then up into Connecticut. There it has just won its ninth unionization victory at important hospitals.

All this is not only a drive for cleaners and kitchen help, though the public tends to think of this union as an organization of manual and semi-skilled workers.

Mr. Davis' NOCHNHE has gone after, and will continue to attempt to unionize, all hospital employes except doctors and nurses.

This means technicians and professionals in x-ray and operating rooms, pathology laboratories, blood banks, cardio-pulmonary labs dietary departments, research departments (medical and surgical) as ell as white collar employes in the administrative except doctors and nurses.

This means technicians and professionals in x-ray and operating rooms, pathology lab oratories, blood banks, cardio-pulmonary labs, dietary departments, research departments (medical and surgical) as well as white collar employes in the administrative offices -- cashiers, auditors, computer operators.

This is the new frontier. Mr. Davis, carrying Reverend King's banner, using his words of praise and eager disciples, plans to hit it hard.

There will be mass picketing, demonstrations, united fronts with civil rights units and endless confrontations -- if what has occurred in New York is a sign of things to come. I believe it is.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:

These are difficult days for an editorial writer. There are two many greys and too few blacks and whites.

An example is the proposal that many holidays observed annually in the United States be incorporated into weekends.

This is desirable.

We favor it.

A holiday in the middle of the week isn't useful and it disrupts the week for all business operations. By making holidays fall near the weekend annually Americans are permitted to enjoy longer periods of relaxation.

So far so good but how about the hazard to human life and property?

On Thanksgiving Day automobiles were traveling in the 60-80 mile-an-hour range almost bumper to bumper on Interstate 55 between Sikeston and Cape Girardeau.

This is not a regional or local situation. All the interstates, toll roads, turnpikes and major highways were clogged with speeding cars.

Think of the increased hazard to human life if Thanksgiving Day had been tied into a weekend.

Thousands more would have taken to the nation's highways. The congestion would have increased. The death and destruction would soar.

It isn't pleasant to contemplate.

It is a fine thing giving Americans what they want.

But it may be a better thing to save them from self destruction.

Staying at home isn't a guarantee of security. Home accidents take a big toll of lives every year.

It's hard to know which way to jump.

WHO PAYS THE BILLS?

Three Ohio school districts will close down in the next two weeks. The first will be Youngstown, where 28,000 pupils will be turned out of classes from Wednesday (Nov. 27) until Jan. 2. Four more districts may have to shut down for lack of money.

Taxpayers don't want to pay the bills. That's the logical reading of the Nov. 5 election results.

Of a proposed total of more than $9 billion in bonds put up to the voters on election day, The Wall Street Journal estimates that at least 42 per cent, and possibly more, was rejected. In normal times - for example, the years 1964 to 1967 -- between 73 per cent and 77 per cent of bond issues were approved.

Richard L. Strout reports: "Taxpayers tossed overboard bond proposals for better schools, hospitals, antipollution devices, parks, and mass transit systems." Congressional Quarterly suggests, moreover, that in the 1968 session of Congress "a broad agreement also developed that the federal government should have a role in providing financial assistance to states and localities for a variety of programs."

The record of Nov. 5 is mixed, but the general verdict of the taxpayers was, in the words of Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island -- who incidentally was a defeated Republican -- "a mandate not to spend."

Virginia by landslide proportions scrapped its pay-as-you-go fiscal policy of more than 40 years and authorized the issuance of $81 million in bonds for higher education and hospitals. "Over and over," the Richmond Times-Dispatch reported, "(administration leaders) emphasized that failure of the bond issue would force the state either to ignore critical needs or to authorize another tax increase."

Alaska voters accepted all but one of eight bond issues for a total of almost $50 million, including $10 million for schools and $8.5 million for the University of Alaska. Suburban communities surrounding Washington, D. C. approved $208 million in general-obligation bonds for a rapid-transit system. New Jersey voters approved bond issues involving $990 million, the biggest total ever.

But Los Angeles voters turned down a proposed $2.5 billion county rapid-transit issue. Rhode Island defeated a $10 million loan for hospitals. Oregon rejected $30 million for ocean-beach parklands. The taxpayers, on a general basis, went out on strike.

The significance of Nov. 5 will be seen in January. Most state legislatures will be meeting in 1969. In almost every state the lawmakers will be facing the problem of raising more money. Although the federal government currently collects about two-thirds of all taxes, the fastest-growing area of taxation has been at the state and local levels.

Schools are the concern almost everywhere. Pupils in New York City will have to give up 10 holidays and put in longer hours to make up for a 36-day teachers' strike. The trouble in Ohio has been failure of voters in referenda to approve tax rate increases for school costs. The districts are temporarily broke.

State and city debts have skyrocketed since World War II, but federal debt has gone up only about 20 per cent. In the cities, according to a study by Prof. Richard Netzer of New York University for the National Commission on Urban Problems, property taxes fall heaviest on the poor. They amount to a sales tax, he estimates, of as much as 24 per cent on slum housing. In the fact of a general taxpayer revolt, this kind of analysis is most disturbing.

THE GREAT PARTS OF THE COUNTRY

The Senate antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D Mich.) on Tuesday (Dec.3) begins hearings on the automobile repair business.

That radio advertising jingle about the great parts of the country soon may have an ironic sound. Three inquiries under way in Washington promise to show that automobile parts are expensive and that the warranties system for new cars needs amending.

One report attributes to so-called flat rate manuals -- used by both dealers and independent garages for repairs pricing -- the fact that an expensive Ford model costs $4,000, "but the parts that go into that automobile, run to $22,000."

The Federal Trade Commission on Nov. 7 released a staff study that stated: "Many new cars are delivered to the buyer in poor condition..; car owners experience difficulties having repairs made simply and expeditiously often causing them great inconvenience; workmanship in warranty repair work is frequently shoddy; and exclusions, limitations and conditions in the warranties are not made clear to purchasers." This report was held in secret -- though shown to the industry -- until Ralph Nader, frequent critic of government consumer protection methods, got a copy and handed it around.

Automobile sales in October ran higher than in any month ever before. Early in November, production set the records. The 2-millionth 1969 model was built on Nov. 9, the earliest date in history. At that, several plants were idled by strikes.

But Impact, a business letter circulated by banks, warns that, seasonally adjusted, October sales "weren't all that great after all." Auto sales may turn down for the rest of the year and early into 1969.

The sales rate hardly reflects consumer foot-dragging. Yet, according to Newsweek magazine, buyers have reason to beware -- "Since 1966, Detroit has recalled 3.5 million cars for possible safety defects."

The investigating spree mentioned above began with a nine-month staff study by the Senate antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D Mich.). The group is interested in repair costs on old and new cars. Citing the Federal Trade Commission report, Sen. Hart on Nov. 7 said: "Warranty service makes up less than 10 per cent of the auto repair market. We are interested in warranty repairs chiefly for the effect they may have on the cost of the other 90 per cent."

The FTC's own hearings on new-car warranties begin on Jan. 9. Manufacturers' warranties on 1969-model autos provide in general for repair or replacement of defective parts within one year or 12,000 miles, and cover power-train parts for five years or 50,000 miles. Warranties generally were more liberal for pre-1969 models. About 130,000 of the country's 150,000 garages are independents. The others are dealers or mass merchandisers, like Sears Roebuck and Co.

Meanwhile, the Department of Transportation is having a study of garage repair and dealer warranties made for it by Operations Research, Inc. A report is due by the middle of 1969. The study is part of the department's overall inquiry into the automobile insurance industry. It may indicate the degree to which discounts are allowed to insurance companies and fleet owners as opposed to private operators.

True to Her Word

THE RULER OF AN ancient Kingdom wanted to disprove the statement that the men of his domain were ruled by their wives. He had all the males in his kingdom brought before him and warned that any man who did not tell the truth would be punished severely.

Then he asked all the men who obeyed their wives' directions and counsel to step to the left side of the hall. All the men did so. That is, all but one little man who moved to the right.

"It is good to see," said the king, "that we have one real man in the kingdom. Tell these chicken-hearted dunces why you alone among them stand on the right side of the hall."

"Sire," came the reply in a squeaky voice, "it is because before I left home my wife told me to keep out of crowds."

'Pogo' Simulates Hopping on Moon

Kangaroo-hopping will be the best way to get around the surface of the moon, where the tug of gravity is only one-sixth that on earth, according to scientists at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Housto.

The astronauts are getting practical experience in just how it will feel, thanks to the new piston device that they call the "pogo."

The pogo -- technically known as the partial gravity simulator -- is one of the devices used in attempting to solve some of the problems caused by weightlessness. Spacemen will be faced with these problems for long periods during extended space flights, when they will be completely weightless, and while on the moon's surface, when they will be almost weightless.

Harold I. Johnson, the engineer who designed the pogo, says that it gives a man "the feeling of moving under lunar conditions, where he has to learn new balancing techniques and how fast to move without falling down.

The astronauts work in a room that can be blacked to resemble the dark-side of the moon. A spotlight can be turned on to simulate the brightness and apparent size of the sun as viewed from the moon. Mr. Johnson also can turn on the earth -- a lighted photo shot from a satellite 22,500 miles.

COMPUTERS GO DOWN TO SEA IN SHIPS OF COAST GUARD

The U.S. Coast Guard's weather cutter fleet will get computers to gather data for weather forecasting and airborne target tracking, it was disclosed.

Caost Guard headquarters in Norfolk, Va., said 39 ocean station cutters will be outfitted with Honeywell computers as part of a vertical-tracking radar system.

Computer tests aboard the Cutter Chincoteague have been successfully completed. The service's first general-purpose shipboard computers will be installed beginning next year, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard will apply computers to many of its activities at sea. Satellites already in orbit can used to feed data to the computer fo navigational fixes. Also, data obtained from oceanographic observations can be reduced at sea using the computer.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say Nixon-Rockefeller get-together notably lacked cordiality; Nixon ignored Rocky as cabinet prospect; President-elect can't afford to allienate GOP liberals

--Dwindling French Gold--

On May 29, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that "De Gaulle's gold reserve is certain to vanish. He will have to spend the gold that he is hording to support the franc. Already there is heavy traffic across the Swiss border by Frenchmen who want to put their money in Swiss francs for safekeeping. It's sure to increase."

In the last 10 days there have been various emerging moves to support the franc.

WASHINGTON---What took place at the recent meeting between President-Elect Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller explains why Press Secretary Ron Ziegler tried to conceal the meeting from newsmen. It was cool, polite, fairly brief, and not at all conducive to keeping the two great wings of the Republican party united.

Gov. Rockefeller, who leads the Progressive Liberal wing, came away unhappy. He is not saying so publicly, but the meeting climaxed a chain of events which at times have made the most important Republican Governor in the east boiling mad.

The friction began last summer when Nixon let Sen. Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina Dixiecrat, veto a liberal northerner to be Vice President. Gov. Rockefeller was not irked because Thurmond vetoed him, but because all other northern liberals, including Sen. Mark Hatfield, Ore., Sen. Charles Percy, Ill., and Mayor John Lindsay of New York were vetoed.

Not long after the Miami convention, Rockefeller was approached by Vice President Humphrey to run on a coalition Democratic-Republican ticket. It was a tempting offer, because a coalition was almost sure to win. But Rockefeller remained loyal to Nixon. He turned the offer down. The Governor of New York expected, following this, to be consulted regarding Nixon's campaign strategy. He was hardly consulted at all. He delivered all the speeches he was requested to make, plus some on his own. But he was not called upon for advice on strategy. Furthermore, he was flabbergasted when Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, the Vice Presidential running mate, came into New York State to speak at a dinner given by the conservative party. The conservative party in New York has done its best to cut Rocky's throat. Yet Nixon's running mate came to help it raise funds.

--No Cabinet offer--

All this preceded the at-first hush-hush meeting at the hotel Pierre at which Nixon did not offer the head of the liberal wing of the Republican party even a minor cabinet post. Rockefeller had wanted to be either Secretary of State or Secretary of Defense.

He had served as assistant Secretary of State, as a White House aide under Ike and had published the "Rockefeller Brothers Report," a comprehensive study on the American Defense and Missile Lag. Yet Nixon ignored Rockefeller's desire to head the State or defense departments.

He did not even offer the Governor a post as Secretary of hew of Housing and Urban Development, though Rockefeller served as under secretary of HEW in the Eisenhower cabinet and is an expert on big-city problems. Instead Nixon offered Nelso the job of representing the United States at the U. N. a job which has already been downgraded. Rockefeller refused.

The alienation of the Governor, while not complete, could be serious. Nixon must make progress in the big cities, which largely voted against him, if he is to prevent increasing national disunity and curtail crime in the streets. This was one of his key campaign pledges. To carry it out, he sorely needs the support of GOP liberals of whom Rockefeller is the 1A leader.

--Nixon-Rocky Rivalry--

he differences between Nixon and Rockefeller are based on a long series of policy clashes dating back to when Nixon was in Congress and voted consistently with the conservative wing of the Republican party. He voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, which labor hated. He was one of only three senators who voted to kill the civil rights bill in committee in 1951. Rockefeller has been championed by labor and is a strong civil rights advocate.

Nixon also voted against aid to Korea in 1949 and against military aid to Western Europe. Rockefeller was an original proponent of military aid to Western Europe. Belatedly Nixon has proposed strenghtening NATO.

Nixon was a great champion of Joe McCarthy and did his best to rescue McCarthy during the army McCarth hearings which led up to McCarthy's censure. Rockefeller was aconsistent critic of McCarthy and McCarthyism.

While Liberal Republicans, led by Senators, Javits and Keating of New York and case of New Jersey, all strong Rockefeller supporters, tried to reorganize the Senate to give it liberal GOP leadership, Nixon threw his weight behind conservative Senators and defeated them.

Regarding education, Nixon as Vice President, broke a tie vote in the Senate in 1960 to defeat the aid-to-education bill.

In recent months liberal Republicans have been inclined to forgive and forget this background. They have been hoping that the new Nixon would weld the party together.

Republican Liberals also remember that midnight meeting in July, 1960, just before the Republican convention in Chicago, when Nixon very much needed Rockefeller's support to get the GOP nomination. He drove to New York and met secretly with Rockefeller in the latter's fifth avenue apartment where he promised that if Rocky would support him for President in 1960, he, Nixon, would turn around and support Rockefeller in 1964 or later.

But when 1964 rolled around and Rockefeller made a bid for the Republican nomination at San Fancisco, Nixon backed Barry Goldwater.

These are some of the deep-rooted factors which have disturbed prominent liberal repulbicans. Though they knew of Nixon's 1960 pledge to support Rockefeller in 1964, they urged Rocky to support Nixon after the Miami convention. He did, and liberal republicans resent Nixon's failure to appreciate this facts. As a result, bitterness is smoldering inside the GOP which doesn't look to good for long-range Republican unity.

BILLIONS FOR DEGRADATION

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

AMERICA'S poor relief program needs to be put on high jacks and a new chassis ran under it.

It is a failure, not in detail, but in general. It is producing less uplift than degradation. It generates not climbers, but sitters. It compounds the problems it is designed to eradicate.

The intentions were wonderful, but the hangup arose in the article of faith that a man could not be considered a lover of mankind if he did not accept the dogma that no man wants chairty if opportunity is available.

This, alas, is not true. There is nothing "liberal" about self-delusion. As relief produced sloth and dependency, the only cure the dogmatists could think of what more relief.

THE RESULT has been a mess. In a recent speech M.A. (Mike) Wright, chairman of the board of the Humble Oil and Refining Co., urged the American business community to get involved in solving our relief ills, not simply because of the cost, which is bad enough, but in the interest of restoring the self-respect of millions.

Look at the statistics:

In 1940, when we were just crawling out of the Great Depression, the federal government's expenditure for social welfare programs, including social insurance, was just under $9 billion, or 9% of the gross national product.

Last year the government put out $100 billion, 13% of the GNP and about 42% of expenditures for all purposes. In New York City, alone, 870,000 people are now on welfare.

IN THE LATE '30s there was a shortage of jobs of all kinds. Today the big apartment projects rising across the Potomac from Washington display signs pleading for common labor. Last year in the wooded hill country of southeast Oklahoma I watched women running fork-lift trucks in a lumber mill. Although 30% of the population of that county is on assistance, men cannot be hired.

You can't blame all the reliefers. Under present regulations in many states relief payments are reduced dollar-for-dollar for the amount of income earned. How many of us nonreliefers would work under a 100% income tax?

But worse, we penalize responsibility and reward irresponsibility. Take a man living with and supporting his family who is in eligible for any relief because he earns $3,400 a year. But if he moves out and starts sleeping around he keeps his $3,400 and his wife gets $2,000 for aid to the dependent children. Thus the taxpayers put up a $2,000 move-out bonus.

LYNDON JOHNSON'S much heralded war on poverty (when was the last time you heard it mentioned?) was, perhaps, the most wasteful fiasco in American history. It sought to drown what the Southerner calls "poor ways" in a crash outpouring of money. It trained chambermaids at a higher per capita cost than Harvard trains medical studeIt brought notorious hoodlums in as administrators, apparently on the theory that the way to tame 'em was to pay 'em. Even the most doctrinaire sociologist must have learned a lot from the poverty program.

And there are, indeed, many alternate proposals now being pushed. There are the straight guarantee of a minimum family income and the negative income tax. These would certainly eliminate much of the snooping. But how would we handle the head of the household who spends his federal subsidy on women, liquor and horses, and leaves his family to starve? Do we send two checks? WE WILL probably eventually discover that there is no uplift in any system that rewards no-work as well as work. Contrary to the idealists, many people will not struggle to get off relief as a matter of pride. They need solider incentives.

We are certainly going to have to quit reducing relief payments by the exact amount of earnings. And we will probably have to set up a vast system of public works--a new WPA, if you will--in which able-bodied people with no other jobs will be required to put in 40 hours a week raking leaves, beautifying highways, digging garbage pits or anything else for the public weal.

The man is rare who will willingly work for a year to make $100 more than his lazy neighbor who has no appointment until the bars open. We've got to get the neighbor out working, too, and hard enough so that the "help-wanted" sign hung out by private enterprise begins to look interesting. Otherwise, we will all be poorer.

As any bee can tell you, there is no honey in a hiveful of drones.

Inside Labor

Under Reverend King's Banner: Militant Labor Chiefs Launching National Drive To Unionize Thousands of Hospitals

New York: -- On this beat, it is the fashion of turbulent history to begin unheralded in some obscure loft-like side street office, and then crescendo until it shakes the nation -- as did a garbage strike or two. There is a new "proletariat." It is black -- and mostly ununionized. In many a union headquarters, techniques are now being sketched to organize "the new working class" by the millions.

Over on 43rd Street here, in an office of what the late Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. called "his favorite union," just such an organizing drive is being laid out.

This newest of drives will be aimed at the hundreds of thousands of hospital workers, first in the Northeast, then in the near Midwest, and finally in the South.

This campaign will shake many of the cities in which are virtually all of the land's 7,200 hospitals.

This drive will also stir loud cries from the operators of thousands of nursing homes and institutions in which live the aging and infirm. The push is aimed at any and all of the hospitals not now under contract with other unions. This leaves quite a field, since only 350 of the land's 10,000 to 12,000 hospitals and nursing homes have been unionized.

Every ununionized hospital will be inside the target area -- which will include the voluntary, the religious, the municipal, and federal centers of healing.

Behind this campaign is a union long accustomed to shaking, rattling, pushing, mass picketing, marching, demonstrating, and shouting down "the bosses." It is the union of 56-year-old Leon Davis, an old CIO militant who foresees a revival of the "spirit of the thirties," when John L. Lewis led the final struggle agains the nation's giant industries and Walter Reuther imported the sit-in Labor Action (ALA).

In turn Mr. Davis, always a conditioned reflex bargainer, has demanded sole jurisdiction over the hospitals and nursing homes of America. Quite a tempting field. By the last count, there are some 3,600 voluntary hospitals. No one has counted the nursing homes, which no pop up like Beatles records.

In these hospitals and homes, there are well over one million emplo8yes -- some 85 to 90 per cent of whom are black or Puerto Rican.

Should Mr. Davis' "Local 1199" (a phrase soon to be as much as household word nationally as it is in New York) succeed, it would be the world's biggest black union, though it has its share of Puerto Rican and white members. Its membership is now 50,000.

It was Reverend King who rallied to this union long before he marched on Memphis. His voice still is heard in this union's balls and members' homes, for his speech has been preserved in a long-playing record.

And now his disciples are being trained for the drive. The Reverend Ralph Abernathy has sent ten of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference field workers up from Atlanta for orgniazing training. They are to learn how to be the advance guard of the new drive -- especially in the South.

Wherever they go, they will carry the voice and banner of Reverend King. But the quiet drive, which union leaders insist is an un-campaign, has not waited upon the newly arrived SCLC trainees. There is a brand new National Organizing Committee of Hospital and Nursing Home Employes operating out of West 43rd Street. Even before its initials could be strung together as NOCHNHE, the newest labor acrostic, the union began spreading beyond its New York base, first into New Jersey and then up into Connecticut. There it has just won its ninth unionization victory at important hospitals.

All this is not only a drive for cleaners and kitchen help, though the public tends to think of this union as an organization of manual and semi-skilled workers.

Mr. Davis' NOCHNHE has gone after, and will continue to attempt to unionize, all hospital employes except doctors and nurses.

This means technicians and professionals in x-ray and operating rooms, pathology laboratories, blood banks, cardio-pulmonary labs dietary departments, research departments (medical and surgical) as ell as white collar employes in the administrative except doctors and nurses.

This means technicians and professionals in x-ray and operating rooms, pathology lab oratories, blood banks, cardio-pulmonary labs, dietary departments, research departments (medical and surgical) as wel! as white collar employes in the administrative offices -- cashiers, auditors, computer operators.

This is the new frontier. Mr. Davis, carrying Reverend King's banner, using his words of praise and eager disciples, plans to hit it hard.

There will be mass picketing, demonstrations, united fronts with civil rights units and endless confrontations -- if what has occurred in New York is a sign of things to come. I believe it is.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

AS OTHERS PORTRAY THE CHRISTMAS STORY

2

The Madonna and the Three Wise Men—Africa

Christianity in Africa, other than in the coastal areas, does not date back much before the beginning of the 19th century. In Africa as elsewhere the task was one of visual communication, of telling the stories of Jesus in pictures or sculpture. The African being a natural sculptor and wood carver, it followed that the Christian African artist would tell the story of Christmas in his own simple and beautiful technique.

The churches of Africa led the way in commissioning sculptors and artists to use their skills to tell the story of Jesus so the people would understand and relate to them. These artistic works also enrich our understanding of the basic religious truths.

The above drawings of the Virgin and Child and the Three Wise Men are bas reliefs carved by Lamidi Fakeye on the doors of the Roman Catholic Chapel at the University in Ibadan. They follow a very old African tradition of bas reliefs on wooden doorways. There are 10 panels on the doors, showing important scenes in the life of Christ. The simple dignity and reverence of the Wise Men in the bas reliefs impress us with the meaning of the first Christmas Morn.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

AS OTHERS PORTRAY THE CHRISTMAS STORY

2

The Madonna and the Three Wise Men—Africa

Christianity in Africa, other than in the coastal areas, does not date back much before the beginning of the 19th century. In Africa as elsewhere the task was one of visual communication, of telling the stories of Jesus in pictures or sculpture. The African being a natural sculptor and wood carver, it followed that the Christian African artist would tell the story of Christmas in his own simple and beautiful technique.

The churches of Africa led the way in commissioning sculptors and artists to use their skills to tell the story of Jesus so the people would understand and relate to them. These artistic works also enrich our understanding of the basic religious truths.

The above drawings of the Virgin and Child and the Three Wise Men are bas reliefs carved by Lamidi Fakeye on the doors of the Roman Catholic Chapel at the University in Ibadan. They follow a very old African tradition of bas reliefs on wooden doorways. There are 10 panels on the doors, showing important scenes in the life of Christ. The simple dignity and reverence of the Wise Men in the bas reliefs impress us with the meaning of the first Christmas Morn.

Matthews Claims Third Straight Bernie Invitational Championship

BERNIE – Matthews won its third straight Bernie invitational basketball tournament championship last night by handing Lilbourn its first loss of the season, 68-62.

Bernie claimed third with a 46-35 win over New Madrid.

Although the Pirates were top seeded they were underdogs. The Panthers were rated second in the recent Daily Standard basketball poll and Matthews was sixth.

But, ratings and rankings made little differences in this match of New Madrid county powers. Both were out to prove they were the best in the first meeting of the two this season.

They will meet again Tuesday night in a regular scheduled game at Matthews and could be facing each other for another New Madrid county championship in the tournament in January.

Matthews' quickness and experience under pressure proved its most valuable asset. It failed to lose its poise although Lilbourn tied the score numerous times after the Pirates had build a sizeable lead. It even went ahead of it, to only to see them march back.

Was this your best game of the season?

"Yea," Coach Jim Hart of the Pirates said with a sigh of relief.

His troops had been struggling without the services of Kara Nunn, one of last year's top players in its drive to the state title. He may return in time to see action in the 16-team Christmas tournament.

The Pirates, who went into the tournament five days after losing their first game, seemed to be overrated in its top seed position, but gained poise in beating Parma in the tourney opener. It maintained it through the next two games to cap its third straight title.

Five foot, 10 inch junior forward-center Carl Bishop was the floor leader for the winning quintet, cashing in for 15 points and 18 rebounds, playing by far his best game.

He is a brother of the Pirates Leonard Bishop, one of last year's all state guards.

The Pirates big offensive gun was Clarence Brooks who collected 24 points on eight-field goals and eight free throws. He also is a younger brother to a former Pirate star . . . Chuck Brooks.

Matthews bounded into a 11-9 first quarter lead on a balanced scoring attack toped by 6-5 center Steve McElyea's four markers. The teams exchanged leads through the quarter with the Pirates taking its lead with 1:11 remaining in the period on McElyea's six foot set shot.

Lilbourn grabbed the tip in the second period and moved into a tie and then out front 14-13 on Spencer Nesbitt's layin, but that was its only lead of the period as Matthews began to built a lead, that reached nine points once in the period.

The second quarter was marked by both squad's committing numerous mistakes, with matthews the only unit able to capitalize.

The Pirates' biggest lead was with 2:09 remaining in the half when Clarence Brooks hit two free throws awarded him when a Lilbourn player was ejected from the game on a flagerant foul.

Matthews missed on three charity shots, two on a personal foul and one a technical on the Panther bench, that would have put them into a 12-point lead.

Lilbourn charged back in the closing seconds of the first half on free throws by 6-7 Ruben Marsh and 5-7 guard Larry Wolfe, who put in two apiece in a 10 second span, closing the Pirates lead to 31:25 at intermission.

Matthews missed on six of 15 free throw chances, two of those one and ones in the first half, while Lilbourn connected on seven of eight from the charity strip, but held the edge from the field.

Four points by Mike Dambach, two each by Wolfe and Marsh, put the Lilbourn quintet into a 33-33 tie with the Pirates, who got on field goal in the opening minutes of the third quarter by McElyea.

Matthews retaliated with David Pearson putting in three points and Brooks two to move back into the lead, 38-33. That's the way the third period went with each team bounding into the lead, with the Pirates moving out by eight points with 1:15 left in the period. Lilbourn closed that to 47-45, netting the final six points of the period.

In was the final period that paid off for coach Hart's quintet as it never lost its momentum even though Lilbourn had surged back into a tie and had the lead twice.

The Pirates press retained that momentus by grabbing off two Lilbourn passes and turning them into scores that put them ahead 61-60 with 1:43 remaining before the final gun.

Matthews checked the Pirates to but two points during the final two minutes and 41 seconds of the fourth quarter while slipping in 10 itself.

William Gray put the Panthers within four points, 66-62 with 20 seconds left, but it never regained the ball as Matthews put on a fine exhibition of ball control as the Panthers couldn't stay up with the passing of the Pirates who got Brooks open for a layin as the final horn sounded.

Key factors in the Pirates' win was its rebounding, defense, ball handling and guard play.

Terry Lape and David Pearson turned in outstanding jobs from the guard slots, netting points in the clutch and picking off loss balls as well as turning in fine defensive jobs.

The rebounding of Brooks, Bishop and McElyea as well as their defensive jobs was all in a team effort victory for the Pirates who seem set after a shaky season start.

Lilbourn's attack was centered mainly around 6-7 Marsh who had a fine night, netting 25 points, pulling 22 rebounds and harrassing the Pirates shooters, with his blocking of shots.

So the Pirates take a 1-0 advantage in its battle with cross-country rival Lilbourn and another trophy and title.

New Madrid's basketball team, for the second night in a row had its offensive machine stall. This allowed its opponent to surge into the victory circle. Bernie claimed third place in its own invitational tournament last night with a 46-35 come - from - behind victory.

Thursday night, New Madrid went 10 minutes and 51 seconds without scoring a field goal and allowed Matthews to move into the finals of the tourney and last night the Indians scored but one point in eight minutes and 50 seconds after taking a 28-20 lead with 3:14 left in the third period.

Bernie went into a full court zone press to make its bid for a trophy after New Madrid gained its eight point lead and quickly closed the Indians lead to 29-28 at the end of three quarters.

New Madrid added a free throw late in the third period and didn't get on the scoreboard again until Joe Walker put in a shot from eight foot out with 2:24 remaining in the game. Bernie had built a 38-29 lead before that basket.

New Madrid's defense checked Bernie to 13 points in the first half while its offense produced 20, but the second half was a complete turnabout.

In the second half, Bernie scored 33 points, 15 in the third and 18 in the fourth while New Madrid could get but nine in the third and six in the fourth.

Bernie's 5-11 utility star, Don Botsch maneuvered his way through the Indians defense for 15 points the second half after being checked to two the first and grabbed 16 rebounds.

James Tucker, who had 14 points the first half got but five the second for New Madrid and grabbed high game scoring honors. He also led his team in rebounds with 15.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

Last night's basketball tournament title for Matthews was its third straight at Bernie and its ninth since the arrival Jim Hart was coach. Hart is now headed into his third season as the Pirates head mentor.

Besides those titles, the Pirates have claimed two second place honors.

Coach Hart's record is 69-4, with a state championship and coach of the year honors to his credit.

In his first season at Matthews, Coach Hart coached his team to three first place honors, those in the Bernie, County and Daily Standard basketball poll while claiming second in the Bloomfield tournament and second in the regional that season. He ended with a 30-2 record.

Last season was a banner year for coach Hart and his Pirates who swept through five tournaments with top honors and claimed the Daily Standard number one trophy for the second straight year.

His leadership of the Pirates to the state Class M championship has made the Matthews name prominent around Missouri as, "the basketball capital of Southeast Missour."

It's very sledom that a team repeats such a season as the Pirates had last year, but it seems on the right track.

But with a beefed up schedule, the Pirates have it's work cut out for it.

Lilbourn has at least two more bout's with the Pirates, who also have Oran awaiting to avenge a loss in last year's regional.

With a fine display of sportsmanship, Bernie was awarded the most coveted trophy presented at its annual invitational basketball tournament, while New Madrid's cheerleaders were awarded the cheerleading trophy.

Our hats off to all who helped in winning the honors for its school.

Coach Gene Bess of Oran has been building a great record while coaching the Eagles, who this year seem far and above the best team in the district.

We hope to check his marks and achievements with him after he wins the schools own invitational tourney.

You know its great to see such teams as Lilbourn and Matthews meet...Because no matter how good or bad a team of these two rivals are....you know its going to be a good game.

We look forward to the other two and possibly three meetings between the two.

We haven't even dared to look over our predictions of last night, knowing that we missed at least three.

Our extra century perception is in excellent condition today and we see tonight's action very clear.

Advance Gains Final Berth with Upset

By Rod Taylor

RICHLAND--In the semi-finals of the Richland basketball Tournament last night Richland won a seat in the final by defeating Notre Dame of Cape Girardeau 89-75.

Advance upset Puxico in the second game, 66-59.

This upset put advance in the finals, where they will meet Richland tonight for the title.

George Smith and Willie Jones opened the route for Richland. They both scored 28 points. The two were prominent in the rebound column. Smith 6 foot 2 inches hauled in 21 backboard bounces, and Jones pulled down 30 by putting his 6 foot 3 inches height too good use.

Willie Jones was also hot from the free throw lines. He sank 93 per cent of his charity tosses for six points.

David Seesing was the main support of losing Notre Dame. He ran up a total of 23 points. John Boos, 6 foot 5 inches, made 19 points, 16 of them on field goals.

Richland jumped to a 15-point lead in the first half and pretty well held it for the rest of the game.

Notre Dame managed to stay about even with the Rebels but could make no gains. From the free throw line, Notre Dame had both the better opportunity and the better aim, outscoring Richland by four points.

Richland had a little foul trouble. Three of their starters went over the foul quota. David Simmons, usually a significant player in the Rebel's game, scored only nine points, and succumbed to fouls in the third quarter.

The second game ended in a minor upset. Advance, the third seeded team in the tourney, defeated Puxico which had been seeded second. Credit goes to Perry Daniel, who ran up 21 ponts for Advance, and to Advance's shooting skill from the free toss line. Advance shot about 80 per cent from the charity mark, for 20 points.

For Puxico, Ron Stuart had 18 points to rate as the star. Andrews, who has been averaging about 25 points per game for Puxico, was held by the tough Advance defense to only 10 points.

Advance led at the end of each quarter, and held the lead until the end of the game. The two teams were evenly matched with all totals about equal. Advance won the game on its six points in its outshooting Puxico from the field by three goals.

Tomorrow night, Notre Dame and Puxico will meet for the consolation game, and Richland will meet Advance for the championship trophy playoff.

ORAN - Delta, behind the four-man double figure scoring attack led by Ron Cook's 26 points won 73-58, another shot at the high flying Oran Eagles in semifinal round play of the Oran invitational basketball tournament last night.

East Prairie sped in the consolation championship by trimming St. Vincents of Perryville, 55-49.

Larry Morris led Charleston scorers with 18 points.

East Prairie took an early lead and held it throughout the encounter with St. Vincents.

East Prairie's defense was one of the bigger factors in its triumph holding the Perryville quartet to five points in the second quarter.

Keith Marshall with 12 along Bill Thurmond and James Moss' 11 each drew high honors for the winning Eagles.

Jim Moll had 15 points for the loser and claimed high game scoring honors. Gary Wengert added 14.

Matthews Claims Third Straight Bernie Invitational Championship

BERNIE – Matthews won its third straight Bernie invitational basketball tournament championship last night by handing Lilbourn its first loss of the season, 68-62.

Bernie claimed third with a 46-35 win over New Madrid.

Although the Pirates were top seeded they were underdogs. The Panthers were rated second in the recent Daily Standard basketball poll and Matthews was sixth.

But, ratings and rankings made little differences in this match of New Madrid county powers. Both were out to prove they were the best in the first meeting of the two this season.

They will meet again Tuesday night in a regular scheduled game at Matthews and could be facing each other for another New Madrid county championship in the tournament in January.

Matthews' quickness and experience under pressure proved its most valuable asset. It failed to lose its poise although Lilbourn tied the score numerous times after the Pirates had build a sizeable lead. It even went ahead of it, to only to see them march back.

Was this your best game of the season?

"Yea," Coach Jim Hart of the Pirates said with a sigh of relief.

His troops had been struggling without the services of Kara Nunn, one of last year's top players in its drive to the state title. He may return in time to see action in the 16-team Christmas tournament.

The Pirates, who went into the tournament five days after losing their first game, seemed to be overrated in its top seed position, but gained poise in beating Parma in the tourney opener. It maintained it through the next two games to cap its third straight title.

Five foot, 10 inch junior forward-center Carl Bishop was the floor leader for the winning quintet, cashing in for 15 points and 18 rebounds, playing by far his best game.

He is a brother of the Pirates Leonard Bishop, one of last year's all-state guards.

The Pirates big offensive gun was Clarence Brooks who collected 24 points on eight-field goals and eight free throws. He also is a younger brother to a former Pirate star . . . Chuck Brooks.

Matthews bounded into a 11-9 first quarter lead on a balanced scoring attack toped by 6-5 center Steve McElyea's four markers. The teams exchanged leads through the quarter with the Pirates taking its lead with 1:11 remaining in the period on McElyea's six foot set shot.

Lilbourn grabbed the tip in the second period and moved into a tie and then out front 14-13 on Spencer Nesbitt's layin, but that was its only lead of the period as Matthews began to built a lead, that reached nine points once in the period.

The second quarter was marked by both squad's committing numerous mistakes, with matthews the only unit able to capitalize.

The Pirates' biggest lead was with 2:09 remaining in the half when Clarence Brooks hit two free throws awarded him when a Lilbourn player was ejected from the game on a flagerant foul.

Matthews missed on three charity shots, two on a personal foul and one a technical on the Panther bench, that would have put them into a 12-point lead.

Lilbourn charged back in the closing seconds of the first half on free throws by 6-7 Ruben Marsh and 5-7 guard Larry Wolfe, who put in two apiece in a 10 second span, closing the Pirates lead to 31:25 at intermission.

Matthews missed on six of 15 free throw chances, two of those one and ones in the first half, while Lilbourn connected on seven of eight from the charity strip, but held the edge from the field.

Four points by Mike Dambach, two each by Wolfe and Marsh, put the Lilbourn quintet into a 33-33 tie with the Pirates, who got on field goal in the opening minutes of the third quarter by McElyea.

Matthews retaliated with David Pearson putting in three points and Brooks two to move back into the lead, 38-33. That's the way the third period went with each team bounding into the lead, with the Pirates moving out by eight points with 1:15 left in the period. Lilbourn closed that to 47-45, netting the final six points of the period.

In was the final period that paid off for coach Hart's quintet as it never lost its momentum even though Lilbourn had surged back into a tie and had the lead twice.

The Pirates press retained that momentus by grabbing off two Lilbourn passes and turning them into scores that put them ahead 61-60 with 1:43 remaining before the final gun.

Matthews checked the Pirates to but two points during the final two minutes and 41 seconds of the fourth quarter while slipping in 10 itself.

William Gray put the Panthers within four points, 66-62 with 20 seconds left, but it never regained the ball as Matthews put on a fine exhibition of ball control as the Panthers couldn't stay up with the passing of the Pirates who got Brooks open for a layin as the final horn sounded.

Key factors in the Pirates' win was its rebounding, defense, ball handling and guard play.

Terry Lape and David Pearson turned in outstanding jobs from the guard slots, netting points in the clutch and picking off loss balls as well as turning in fine defensive jobs.

The rebounding of Brooks, Bishop and McElyea as well as their defensive jobs was all in a team effort victory for the Pirates who seem set after a shaky season start.

Lilbourn's attack was centered mainly around 6-7 Marsh who had a fine night, netting 25 points, pulling 22 rebounds and harrassing the Pirates shooters, with his blocking of shots.

So the Pirates take a 1-0 advantage in its battle with cross-country rival Lilbourn and another trophy and title.

New Madrid's basketball team, for the second night in a row had its offensive machine stall. This allowed its opponent to surge into the victory circle. Bernie claimed third place in its own invitational tournament last night with a 46-35 come - from - behind victory.

Thursday night, New Madrid went 10 minutes and 51 seconds without scoring a field goal and allowed Matthews to move into the finals of the tourney and last night the Indians scored but one point in eight minutes and 50 seconds after taking a 28-20 lead with 3:14 left in the third period.

Bernie went into a full court zone press to make its bid for a trophy after New Madrid gained its eight point lead and quickly closed the Indians lead to 29-28 at the end of three quarters.

New Madrid added a free throw late in the third period and didn't get on the scoreboard again until Joe Walker put in a shot from eight foot out with 2:24 remaining in the game. Bernie had built a 38-29 lead before that basket.

New Madrid's defense checked Bernie to 13 points in the first half while its offense produced 20, but the second half was a complete turnabout.

In the second half, Bernie scored 33 points, 15 in the third and 18 in the fourth while New Madrid could get but nine in the third and six in the fourth.

Bernie's 5-11 utility star, Don Botsch maneuvered his way through the Indians defense for 15 points the second half after being checked to two the first and grabbed 16 rebounds.

James Tucker, who had 14 points the first half got but five the second for New Madrid and grabbed high game scoring honors. He also led his team in rebounds with 15.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

Last night's basketball tournament title for Matthews was its third straight at Bernie and its ninth since the arrival Jim Hart was coach. Hart is now headed into his third season as the Pirates head mentor.

Besides those titles, the Pirates have claimed two second place honors.

Coach Hart's record is 69-4, with a state championship and coach of the year honors to his credit.

In his first season at Matthews, Coach Hart coached his team to three first place honors, those in the Bernie, County and Daily Standard basketball poll while claiming second in the Bloomfield tournament and second in the regional that season. He ended with a 30-2 record.

Last season was a banner year for coach Hart and his Pirates who swept through five tournaments with top honors and claimed the Daily Standard number one trophy for the second straight year.

His leadership of the Pirates to the state Class M championship has made the Matthews name prominent around Missouri as, "the basketball capital of Southeast Missour."

It's very sledom that a team repeats such a season as the Pirates had last year, but it seems on the right track.

But with a beefed up schedule, the Pirates have it's work cut out for it.

Lilbourn has at least two more bout's with the Pirates, who also have Oran awaiting to avenge a loss in last year's regional.

With a fine display of sportsmanship, Bernie was awarded the most coveted trophy presented at its annual invitational basketball tournament, while New Madrid's cheerleaders were awarded the cheerleading trophy.

Our hats off to all who helped in winning the honors for its school.

Coach Gene Bess of Oran has been building a great record while coaching the Eagles, who this year seem far and above the best team in the district.

We hope to check his marks and achievements with him after he wins the schools own invitational tourney.

You know its great to see such teams as Lilbourn and Matthews meet...Because no matter how good or bad a team of these two rivals are....you know its going to be a good game.

We look forward to the other two and possibly three meetings between the two.

We haven't even dared to look over our predictions of last night, knowing that we missed at least three.

Our extra century perception is in excellent condition today and we see tonight's action very clear.

Advance Gains Final Berth with Upset

By Rod Taylor

RICHLAND--In the semi-finals of the Richland basketball Tournament last night Richland won a seat in the final by defeating Notre Dame of Cape Girardeau 89-75.

Advance upset Puxico in the second game, 66-59.

This upset put advance in the finals, where they will meet Richland tonight for the title.

George Smith and Willie Jones opened the route for Richland. They both scored 28 points. The two were prominent in the rebound column. Smith 6 foot 2 inches hauled in 21 backboard bounces, and Jones pulled down 30 by putting his 6 foot 3 inches height too good use.

Willie Jones was also hot from the free throw lines. He sank 93 per cent of his charity tosses for six points.

David Seesing was the main support of losing Notre Dame. He ran up a total of 23 points. John Boos, 6 foot 5 inches, made 19 points, 16 of them on field goals.

Richland jumped to a 15-point lead in the first half and pretty well held it for the rest of the game.

Notre Dame managed to stay about even with the Rebels but could make no gains. From the free throw line, Notre Dame had both the better opportunity and the better aim, outscoring Richland by four points.

Richland had a little foul trouble. Three of their starters went over the foul quota. David Simmons, usually a significant player in the Rebel's game, scored only nine points, and succumbed to fouls in the third quarter.

The second game ended in a minor upset. Advance, the third seeded team in the tourney, defeated Puxico which had been seeded second. Credit goes to Perry Daniel, who ran up 21 ponts for Advance, and to Advance's shooting skill from the free toss line. Advance shot about 80 per cent from the charity mark, for 20 points.

For Puxico, Ron Stuart had 18 points to rate as the star. Andrews, who has been averaging about 25 points per game for Puxico, was held by the tough Advance defense to only 10 points.

Advance led at the end of each quarter, and held the lead until the end of the game. The two teams were evenly matched with all totals about equal. Advance won the game on its six points in its outshooting Puxico from the field by three goals.

Tomorrow night, Notre Dame and Puxico will meet for the consolation game, and Richland will meet Advance for the championship trophy playoff.

Delta Tries Oran Again

ORAN - Delta, behind the four-man double figure scoring attack led by Ron Cook's 26 points won 73-58, another shot at the high flying Oran Eagles in semifinal round play of the Oran invitational basketball tournament last night.

East Prairie sped in the consolation championship by trimming St. Vincents of Perryville, 55-49.

Coach Pete Townsend's Bobcats exploded into a 26-11 first quarter lead and then slackened on its scoring while Charleston surged back to within four points, 53-49, going into the final period.

Delta outscored the Bluejays 20-9 in the final period to win its way into the finals. It stalled in the closing minutes. Charleston began to foul and Delta added to its lead.

Cook had a 12 for 15 night from the charity line, from where the Cats scored 23 points to the Jays' 10. Charleston trailed Delta by one field goal, 25-24 for the game.

Larry Morris led Charleston scorers with 18 points.

East Prairie took an early lead and held it throughout the encounter with St. Vincents.

East Prairie's defense was one of the bigger factors in its triumph holding the Perryville quartet to five points in the second quarter.

Keith Marshall with 12 along Bill Thurmond and James Moss' 11 each drew high honors for the winning Eagles.

Jim Moll had 15 points for the loser and claimed high game scoring honors. Gary Wengert added 14.

Tonight's schedule has Scott Central and Charleston meeting for third place honors and Oran going against Delta in the title clash.

Risk in Pasture Of Tall Fescue

COLUMBIA, MO. -- The grazing of tall fescue pastures by cattle in the winter has a "risk factor" of fescue foot.

With over two million acres of fescue in Missouri, much of which is grazed in the fall and winter, there were only 21 outbreaks reported last year to the University of Missouri-Columbia department of agricultural chemistry.

George B. Garner, Extension agricultural chemist, said thyusual incidence of cattle affected in a herd is about 10 percent; however, last year two outbreaks had 70 of 120 and 60 of 140 showing symptoms at one time.

The loss, as measured by animals which died or had to be killed, was seven in the first instance and 45 in the second. "Certainly the loss of 45 head cannot be taken lightly and researchers are concerned because the cattle in both cases were on the toxic field only 15 days," Garner said.

Cattle which do show lameness should be removed promptly and others in the herd removed for observation. If the symptoms recede and no further cases develop, the cattle could be returned to the suspect field. A careful watch for symptoms should follow.

Garner reports a number of College of Agriculture and Veterinary School staff are assisting in the research to find the cause of fescue foot. Livestock producers can help by promptly reporting cases to the local University Extension Center.

Garner points out these general guide lines for producers pasturing fescue:

--Cattle cannot detect the toxicity and may prefer to eat toxic hay over available baled hay or other feeds. Therefore, when pasturing any pasture which has a significant amoung of fescue in it, the cattle should be observed daily if possible.

--Cattle not accustomed to fescue should not be turned into a fescue field when the temperature is below 15 degrees Fahrenheit. Sudden drops of temperature (to zero) and snow may precipitate symptoms.

--Remove cattle from suspected toxic field at first signs of lameness. "Foot rot" could cause similar lameness; however, fescue foot lameness usually is first noticed in the left rear hoof region. Cattle lose condition rapidly because they will not move to graze.

--Cattle with fescue foot which show the lossening of the hooves should be sold unless a purebred cow with calf is considered valuable enough to save the calf. Often these animals will need to be hand fed for months. Although a number calve normally milk production is often low and the cows do not regain normal condition.

For further information, he advises, see UMC Guide 2100 "Fescue Foot."

$231,832 Payments For Welfare

NEW MADRID - Recipients of assistance from funds disbursed by the New Madrid county welfare office during November were paid a $231,831.67.

John M. Underwood Sr., director, reported there were 1,484 on the old age assistance rolls who received $102,624.00.

A total of 578 New Madrid county families with 1,749 children received $64,201 in aid to dependant children.

Persons receiving permanent and total disability assistance were paid $16,529.

The county had 80 on the aid for the blind list and each received $85.00 per month for a total of $6,800.00.

From general relief funds, 41 families received $14,275 or an average check of $60.38 per person.

For vendor programs for all categories of assistance, $24.903.70 was disbursed. These were the drug, dental, physician, hospital, and nursing home vendor programs.

There were 92 children under Child Welfare Superivision during the month of November.

Services were given to 81 children and service was completed to one child, leaving a caseload of 91 at the end of the month. Of these children now being given services, 82 are in the homes of their parents or residing with relatives and six are in foster boarding homes. One child is in an adoptive home and two are in foster group care.

The amount spent for room and board, clothing, medicine, dental care, and incidentals for the children under child welfare supervision from the New Madrid County Court for the month was $249.48. The amount expended from state boarding funds was $249.49.

Farm Cooperatives Marketings Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—A detailed study of farm cooperatives for the year 1966-67 shows they marketed $12.8 billion worth of goods produced by members, an increase of 61 per cent in the last decade.

The Agriculture Department Survey shows that marketings accounted for 78 per cent of the $16.8 billion net business by coops during the year.

David W. Augevine, head of the department's Farmer Cooperative Service, said the 1966-67 net volume represented a six per cent growth from the previous yeaar and a 59 per cent rise during the decade 1967-67.

This rate of growth is expected to continue through 1967-68, Angevine indicated, although complete figures are not yet available. However, he pointed out, record crops the past two seasons have placed larger demands on co-ops.

The number of farm co-ops declined in 1966-67 to 8,110, five per cent fewer than the previous year, the report said. Memberships totalled 6.5 million, including those farmers who belong to more than one co-op which was five per cent below a year earlier.

Minnesota had the most farm cooperatives -- 997 -- followed by Wisconsin 593, and Iowa 516.

Dairy products ranked first among commodities marketed with almost $4.2 billion in 1966-67 up nine per cent from 1965-66 and 51 per cent more than 10 years earlier. Dairying accounted for 32 per cent of all marketings by co-ops.

Grain marketings totaled almost $2.9 billion in 1966-67, and livestock $1.9 billion.

California retained its lead in net marketings with $1.8 billion, followed by Minnesota, $892 million, and Iowa, $766 million.

Dollars Can Be Saved In Grain Storage

CARUTHERSVILLE - Thousands of dollars can be saved through good management by the many farmers who stored grain on farms this year according to Area Extension Agent W. F. James.

Just because grain was stored with proper moisture content and sealed against contamination at harvest time, is no sign that mositure content and amount of contamination will remain the same, James says.

Good storage management might well include protection from three main threats to stored grain - rodents, insects and moisture accumulation.

Moisture accumulates in stored grain when the outside temperature changes from warm to cool. For that reason grain stored for several months may need to be aerated. This means moving one twentieth to one tenth cu. ft. of air per minute per bushel through the grain when needed. This is not drying, however, aeration can take out 1 to 2 percent moisture under ideal conditions. Mositure accumulates at the top center of the bin as the walls cool rapidly and the center grain remains warm, with vapor movement up through the warm grain.

During a season of storage, power cost to operate fans for aeration runs ¼ to ½ cents per bushel stored.

A temperature probe and a humidistat are good tools to be used in management of storage.

Aeration fans need to be turned on when grain gets 10 to 15 degrees Fahrenheit higher than outside temperature. The fan should be run on bright sunny days and never on cloudy rainy days or days when temperatures are below 30 degrees Fahrenheit.

The grain in storage needs to be checked regularly for contamination by insects or rodents. Proper steps need to be taken immediately to eliminate these pests when found.

Free information on insect and rodent control in stored grain is available at your nearest University of Missouri Extension Center.

Heavy Rains Forecast During December

By Leonard F. Hand

PORTAGEVILLE - While temperatures are expected to be typical for the month above normal rain is indicated for the Missouri Bootheel during December.

The major source of cool air will be high pressure systems moving inland from the Pacific Ocean with centers following a path across the lower Great Plains through the mid-Mississippi Valley. Polar air from Canada will be held to the northern states for the most part as high pressure centers are likely to cross the continent near the border region from the Great Lakes into New England. England. Consequently, chances for extremely cold weather are minimized. However, as snow cover builds over the wewtern mountain ranges in the coming weeks, Pacific air will tend to become progressively cooler before crossingthe Continental Divide.

Limited southward penetration of strong high pressure systems will keep the Gulf of Mexico moisture source open to the mid-south. Low pressure disturbances forming along cold fronts are likely to move from the Southern Plains to the Mississippi Valley through the Arkansas-Missouri region. This is similar to the pattern which delivered substantial rains to the Bootheel in November.

Since southeast Missouri soils are already well stocked with moisture, prospects for field work in December are not bright. With normal rainfall we can look for nearly 3 inches ore moisture gain than we will lose by evaporation. Cool temperatures, low sun angle and little or no root txtraction greatly reduce the transfer of moisture from soil to air. Some soils are already waterlogged, and the situation can be expected to deteriorate furthur in December.

Records for the Bootheel show that the mean number of days with maximum temperatures below freezing in December ranges from 1 at Caruthersville, to 2 at Poplar Bluff and 3 at Sikeston. Mean number of days with the minimum below 32 degrees ranges from 16 at Caruthersville to 21 at Poplar Bluff and 20 at Sikeston.

The mean snowfall ranges from ½ inch at Caruthersville, to 1.7 inches at Poplar Bluff and 1.1 inches at Sikeston. As a matter of interest, however, the greatest snowfall at these points during December was 16.5 inches in 1917 at Caruthersville 10.7 inches in the same year at Poplar Bluff, and 6.8 inches in 1929 at Sikeston.

During November a total of 5.05 inches of rain fell at the Weather Bureau, Portageville Gages at the University of Missouri Experiment Field caught 4.52 inches.

Normal rain in December for the Bootheel as a whole is 3.67 inches. Normals for indvidual cities are: Cape Girardeau 3.07 inches, New Madrid 3.93 inches, Caruthersville 4.03 ", Parma 3.67 ", Dexter 3.62 ", Poplar Bluff 3.40 " and Doniphan 3.34 ", Sikeston 3.71 ".

Short term averages for other points are: Advance 3.09 ", Deering 4.28 inches, Bernie 3.61 ", Kennett 3.58 ", Bloomfield 3.57 ", Malden 3.40 ", Charleston 3.87 ", Portageville 3.76 ", Clearwater Dam 2.80 ", Puxico 2.91 " and Wappapello Dam 2.86 ", Qulin 2.92 ".

Long period records show that for Decembers with above normal rainfall, averages are 5.83 inces at Poplar Bluff, 6.11 inches at Sikeston, and 6.30 inches at Caruthersville. Amounts ranged from 4.60 to 9.87 inches at Poplar Bluff, from 4.70 to 8.87 inches at Sikeston, and from 4.61 to 9.38 inches at Caruthersville.

On The Fence Row

By Tom Brown

BLOOMFIELD - Farm machinery is one of the most expensive things the farmer has to worry about, and yet, it is neglected in many cases as far as preparations for winter is concerned. Taking the proper steps to prepare machinery for winter will do much to add to the life of the machinery, will reduce the machinery repair bill, and, in general, will do much to reduce machinery costs.

Even machinery such as tractors and feed wagons that is to be used during the winter should be prepared for cold weather operation. Instructions for cold weather use as outlined in the operators manual that came with each machine should be followed carefully. Of course, engines will need anti-freeze added to the radiator. The oil should be changed, and a lighter oil should be used during the winter. The air cleaner should be cleaned and filled with fresh oil of the proper viscosity and the hydraulic system should be serviced in accordance with recommendations of the manufacturer. If one or more tractors are to be used as chore tractors, you should use a gasoline tractor rather than a diesel as short periods of operation, long periods of idling, and low temperatures are hard on any tractor, but are particularly hard on a diesel tractor.

Machinery that is not to be used during the winter should be stored if at all possible. If machinery is stored, it will last longer, require less repairs, operate better, and have a greater trade-in value. If you don't have adequate machinery storage, perhaps this is one investment that you should consider. Research indicates that machinery storage is a paying proposition. For example, tests conducted at Kansas State University indicates that storage increases the average life of machinery by 10 percent and decreases annual repair bills by 10 percent. Also, a survey of equipment dealers in the southeastern states shows that farm equipment that is not stored reaches junk value in about one-half the time as compared to stored equipment. In addition to such savings, one of the most important advantages of machinery storage, particularly if the storage building includes a shop, is having a place to repair and adjust machinery during the winter months. This will add to the life of the machinery, cut down on repair bills, and your machinery will be ready for work next spring when the time comes.

Machinery that will not be used until next spring should be prepared for winter whether the machinery is to be stored or left outside. The exterior of all equipment should be cleaned, using gasoline or a commercial solvent if necessary.

In the case of tracotrs, combines, or other engines, the entire air cleaner assembly should be cleaned. The air cleaner cup should be cleaned, and refilled with the proper oil as recommended in the operator's manual for daily maintenance. The crank case should be drained, the oil filter serviced, and the crank case refilled with fresh oil of the proper grade and viscosity. After this has been done, the engine should be run several minutes to lubricate engine parts. The transmission nd hydraulic system should be serviced in accordance with recommendations found in your operators manual. If the manual recommends draining and filling these systems with oil, do so as oil is much cheaper than gears. Drain and flush the cooling system of engines that have radiators. Drain the fuel tank, fuel lines, and carburetor on gasoline tractors, as gasoline tends to form a gun if left in the tank for a period of three months or longer. Remove each sparkplug, pour about two teaspoons of oil into each cylinder, and turn the engine over several times to distribute the oil on the engine surfaces. It is also a good idea to cleaand re-gap the plugs while you have them out of the engine. The exhaust pipe and breather pipe should be plugged. If the engine is to be left outside, it is suggested that you cover them with a tarpualin. Remove the battery and store it where it will remain cool, but will not freeze.

Equipment other than engines should be cleaned and greased and the unprotected parts should be covered with a rust prohibitor. All belts should be loosened on machinery in storage, and if the equipment is to be left outside, the belts should be removed and stored.

If these steps are followed in preparing your farm machinery for winter, the dollars you spend on machinery will go farther and the returnsfrom the use of your equipment will be considerably greater.

Six Telecasts Set For Apollo8

WASHINGTON (AP) - Six television transmissions are scheduled for the Apollo 8 spaceship including 15-minute telecasts Christmas Eve and Christmas Day that should give earthlings a look at their own planet and at the moon.

"The pictures of earth should be rather spectacular," William C. Schneider, director of the Apollo program, told newsmen Thursday.

Although the spaceship carrying three astronauts will be only 70 miles from the moon's surface, Schneider said the lunar landscape will spin too quickly to be picked up clearly by the slow-scanning camera.

He said the picture will tend to smear on TV screens.

The National Aetonautics and Space Administration has scheduled the launch of Apollo 8 for 7:51 a.m. EST Dec. 21. The entire trip is expected to take seven days.

Pravda Lashes AlliedAir Watch On Soviet Ships

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet newspaper Pravda charged today that a new allied air watch on Soviet ships in the Mediterranean is a "typical provocation, fraught with danger."

Vladimir Yermakov, writing in the Communist party paper said the air watch was a "violation of the norms of international law which provides for freedom of navigation in open seas in peacetime."

He charged that the Naples-based service of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, commanded by U.S. Adm. Edward Outlaw, "threatens the security of the Mediterranean peoples."

The accusation came one day after another Pravda writer attacked the United States for sending two destroyers from the Mediterranean into the Black Sea for a five-day cruise beginning today.

A spokesman of the U.S. Navy European headquarters said, "U.S. destroyers have in the past visited the Black Sea and we would expect this practice to continue."

Since the 1967 Middle East War the Soviet Union has increased the number of its ships in the Mediterranea. It has proclaimed itself a Mediterranean power and charged that U.S. 6th Fleet threatened peace in the area.

Risk in Pasture Of Tall Fescue

COLUMBIA, MO. -- The grazing of tall fescue pastures by cattle in the winter has a "risk factor" of fescue foot.

With over two million acres of fescue in Missouri, much of which is grazed in the fall and winter, there were only 21 outbreaks reported last year to the University of Missouri-Columbia department of agricultural chemistry.

George B. Garner, Extension agricultural chemist, said thyusual incidence of cattle affected in a herd is about 10 percent; however, last year two outbreaks had 70 of 120 and 60 of 140 showing symptoms at one time.

The loss, as measured by animals which died or had to be killed, was seven in the first instance and 45 in the second. "Certainly the loss of 45 head cannot be taken lightly and researchers are concerned because the cattle in both cases were on the toxic field only 15 days," Garner said.

Cattle which do show lameness should be removed promptly and others in the herd removed for observation. If the symptoms recede and no further cases develop, the cattle could be returned to the suspect field. A careful watch for symptoms should follow.

Garner reports a number of College of Agriculture and Veterinary School staff are assisting in the research to find the cause of fescue foot. Livestock producers can help by promptly reporting cases to the local University Extension Center.

Garner points out these general guide lines for producers pasturing fescue:

--Cattle cannot detect the toxicity and may prefer to eat toxic hay over available baled hay or other feeds. Therefore, when pasturing any pasture which has a significant amoung of fescue in it, the cattle should be observed daily if possible.

--Cattle not accustomed to fescue should not be turned into a fescue field when the temperature is below 15 degrees Fahrenheit. Sudden drops of temperature (to zero) and snow may precipitate symptoms.

--Remove cattle from suspected toxic field at first signs of lameness. "Foot rot" could cause similar lameness; however, fescue foot lameness usually is first noticed in the left rear hoof region. Cattle lose condition rapidly because they will not move to graze.

--Cattle with fescue foot which show the lossening of the hooves should be sold unless a purebred cow with calf is considered valuable enough to save the calf. Often these animals will need to be hand fed for months. Although a number calve normally milk production is often low and the cows do not regain normal condition.

For further information, he advises, see UMC Guide 2100 "Fescue Foot."

$231,832 Payments For Welfare

NEW MADRID - Recipients of assistance from funds disbursed by the New Madrid county welfare office during November were paid a $231,831.67.

John M. Underwood Sr., director, reported there were 1,484 on the old age assistance rolls who received $102,624.00.

A total of 578 New Madrid county families with 1,749 children received $64,201 in aid to dependant children.

Persons receiving permanent and total disability assistance were paid $16,529.

The county had 80 on the aid for the blind list and each received $85.00 per month for a total of $6,800.00.

From general relief funds, 41 families received $14,275 or an average check of $60.38 per person.

For vendor programs for all categories of assistance, $24.903.70 was disbursed. These were the drug, dental, physician, hospital, and nursing home vendor programs.

There were 92 children under Child Welfare Superivision during the month of November.

Services were given to 81 children and service was completed to one child, leaving a caseload of 91 at the end of the month. Of these children now being given services, 82 are in the homes of their parents or residing with relatives and six are in foster boarding homes. One child is in an adoptive home and two are in foster group care.

The amount spent for room and board, clothing, medicine, dental care, and incidentals for the children under child welfare supervision from the New Madrid County Court for the month was $249.48. The amount expended from state boarding funds was $249.49.

Farm Cooperatives Marketings Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—A detailed study of farm cooperatives for the year 1966-67 shows they marketed $12.8 billion worth of goods produced by members, an increase of 61 per cent in the last decade.

The Agriculture Department Survey shows that marketings accounted for 78 per cent of the $16.8 billion net business by coops during the year.

David W. Augevine, head of the department's Farmer Cooperative Service, said the 1966-67 net volume represented a six per cent growth from the previous yeaar and a 59 per cent rise during the decade 1967-67.

This rate of growth is expected to continue through 1967-68, Angevine indicated, although complete figures are not yet available. However, he pointed out, record crops the past two seasons have placed larger demands on co-ops.

The number of farm co-ops declined in 1966-67 to 8,110, five per cent fewer than the previous year, the report said. Memberships totalled 6.5 million, including those farmers who belong to more than one co-op which was five per cent below a year earlier.

Minnesota had the most farm cooperatives — 997 — followed by Wisconsin 593, and Iowa 516.

Dairy products ranked first among commodities marketed with almost $4.2 billion in 1966-67 up nine per cent from 1965-66 and 51 per cent more than 10 years earlier. Dairying accounted for 32 per cent of all marketings by co-ops.

Grain marketings totaled almost $2.9 billion in 1966-67, and livestock $1.9 billion.

California retained its lead in net marketings with $1.8 billion, followed by Minnesota, $892 million, and Iowa, $766 million.

Dollars Can Be Saved In Grain Storage

CARUTHERSVILLE - Thousands of dollars can be saved through good management by the many farmers who stored grain on farms this year according to Area Extension Agent W. F. James.

Just because grain was stored with proper moisture content and sealed against contamination at harvest time, is no sign that mositure content and amount of contamination will remain the same, James says.

Good storage management might well include protection from three main threats to stored grain - rodents, insects and moisture accumulation.

Moisture accumulates in stored grain when the outside temperature changes from warm to cool. For that reason grain stored for several months may need to be aerated. This means moving one twentieth to one tenth cu. ft. of air per minute per bushel through the grain when needed. This is not drying, however, aeration can take out 1 to 2 percent moisture under ideal conditions. Mositure accumulates at the top center of the bin as the walls cool rapidly and the center grain remains warm, with vapor movement up through the warm grain.

During a season of storage, power cost to operate fans for aeration runs ¼ to ½ cents per bushel stored.

A temperature probe and a humidistat are good tools to be used in management of storage.

Aeration fans need to be turned on when grain gets 10 to 15 degrees Fahrenheit higher than outside temperature. The fan should be run on bright sunny days and never on cloudy rainy days or days when temperatures are below 30 degrees Fahrenheit.

The grain in storage needs to be checked regularly for contamination by insects or rodents. Proper steps need to be taken immediately to eliminate these pests when found.

Free information on insect and rodent control in stored grain is available at your nearest University of Missouri Extension Center.

Heavy Rains Forecast During December

By Leonard F. Hand

PORTAGEVILLE - While temperatures are expected to be typical for the month above normal rain is indicated for the Missouri Bootheel during December.

The major source of cool air will be high pressure systems moving inland from the Pacific Ocean with centers following a path across the lower Great Plains through the mid-Mississippi Valley. Polar air from Canada will be held to the northern states for the most part as high pressure centers are likely to cross the continent near the border region from the Great Lakes into New England. England. Consequently, chances for extremely cold weather are minimized. However, as snow cover builds over the wewtern mountain ranges in the coming weeks, Pacific air will tend to become progressively cooler before crossingthe Continental Divide.

Limited southward penetration of strong high pressure systems will keep the Gulf of Mexico moisture source open to the mid-south. Low pressure disturbances forming along cold fronts are likely to move from the Southern Plains to the Mississippi Valley through the Arkansas-Missouri region. This is similar to the pattern which delivered substantial rains to the Bootheel in November.

Since southeast Missouri soils are already well stocked with moisture, prospects for field work in December are not bright. With normal rainfall we can look for nearly 3 inches ore moisture gain than we will lose by evaporation. Cool temperatures, low sun angle and little or no root txtraction greatly reduce the transfer of moisture from soil to air. Some soils are already waterlogged, and the situation can be expected to deteriorate furthur in December.

Records for the Bootheel show that the mean number of days with maximum temperatures below freezing in December ranges from 1 at Caruthersville, to 2 at Poplar Bluff and 3 at Sikeston. Mean number of days with the minimum below 32 degrees ranges from 16 at Caruthersville to 21 at Poplar Bluff and 20 at Sikeston.

The mean snowfall ranges from ½ inch at Caruthersville, to 1.7 inches at Poplar Bluff and 1.1 inches at Sikeston. As a matter of interest, however, the greatest snowfall at these points during December was 16.5 inches in 1917 at Caruthersville. 10.7 inches in the same year at Poplar Bluff, and 6.8 inches in 1929 at Sikeston.

During November a total of 5.05 inches of rain fell at the Weather Bureau, Portageville. Gages at the University of Missouri Experiment Field caught 4.52 inches.

Normal rain in December for the Bootheel as a whole is 3.67 inches. Normals for indvidual cities are: Cape Girardeau 3.07 inches, New Madrid 3.93 inches, Caruthersville 4.03 ", Parma 3.67 ", Dexter 3.62 ", Poplar Bluff 3.40 " and Doniphan 3.34 ", Sikeston 3.71 ".

Short term averages for other points are: Advance 3.09 ", Deering 4.28 inches, Bernie 3.61 ", Kennett 3.58 ", Bloomfield 3.57 ", Malden 3.40 ", Charleston 3.87 ", Portageville 3.76 ", Clearwater Dam 2.80 ", Puxico 2.91 " and Wappapello Dam 2.86 ", Qulin 2.92 ".

Long period records show that for Decembers with above normal rainfall, averages are 5.83 inces at Poplar Bluff, 6.11 inches at Sikeston, and 6.30 inches at Caruthersville. Amounts ranged from 4.60 to 9.87 inches at Poplar Bluff, from 4.70 to 8.87 inches at Sikeston, and from 4.61 to 9.38 inches at Caruthersville.

If you don't have adequate machinery storage, perhaps this is one investment that you should consider. Research indicates that machinery storage is a paying proposition. For example, tests conducted at Kansas State University indicates that storage increases the average life of machinery by 10 percent and decreases annual repair bills by 10 percent. Also, a survey of equipment dealers in the southeastern states shows that farm equipment that is not stored reaches junk value in about one-half the time as compared to stored equipment. In addition to such savings, one of the most important advantages of machinery storage, particularly if the storage building includes a shop, is having a place to repair and adjust machinery during the winter months. This will add to the life of the machinery, cut down on repair bills, and your machinery will be ready for work next spring when the time comes.

Machinery that will not be used until next spring should be prepared for winter whether the machinery is to be stored or left outside. The exterior of all equipment should be cleaned, using gasoline or a commercial solvent if necessary.

In the case of tracotrs, combines, or other engines, the entire air cleaner assembly should be cleaned. The air cleaner cup should be cleaned, and refilled with the proper oil as recommended in the operator's manual for daily maintenance. The crank case should be drained, the oil filter serviced, and the crank case refilled with fresh oil of the proper grade and viscosity. After this has been done, the engine should be run several minutes to lubricate engine parts. The transmission nd hydraulic system should be serviced in accordance with recommendations found in your operators manual. If the manual recommends draining and filling these systems with oil, do so as oil is much cheaper than gears. Drain and flush the cooling system of engines that have radiators. Drain the fuel tank, fuel lines, and carburetor on gasoline tractors, as gasoline tends to form a gun if left in the tank for a period of three months or longer. Remove each sparkplug, pour about two teaspoons of oil into each cylinder, and turn the engine over several times to distribute the oil on the engine surfaces. It is also a good idea to cleaand re-gap the plugs while you have them out of the engine. The exhaust pipe and breather pipe should be plugged. If the engine is to be left outside, it is suggested that you cover them with a tarpualin. Remove the battery and store it where it will remain cool, but will not freeze.

Equipment other than engines should be cleaned and greased and the unprotected parts should be covered with a rust prohibitor. All belts should be loosened on machinery in storage, and if the equipment is to be left outside, the belts should be removed and stored.

If these steps are followed in preparing your farm machinery for winter, the dollars you spend on machinery will go farther and the returnsfrom the use of your equipment will be considerably greater.

Six Telecasts Set For Apollo8

WASHINGTON (AP) - Six television transmissions are scheduled for the Apollo 8 spaceship including 15-minute telecasts Christmas Eve and Christmas Day that should give earthlings a look at their own planet and at the moon.

"The pictures of earth should be rather spectacular," William C. Schneider, director of the Apollo program, told newsmen Thursday.

Although the spaceship carrying three astronauts will be only 70 miles from the moon's surface, Schneider said the lunar landscape will spin too quickly to be picked up clearly by the slow-scanning camera.

He said the picture will tend to smear on TV screens.

The National Aetonautics and Space Administration has scheduled the launch of Apollo 8 for 7:51 a.m. EST Dec. 21. The entire trip is expected to take seven days.

Pravda Lashes Allied Air Watch On Soviet Ships

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet newspaper Pravda charged today that a new allied air watch on Soviet ships in the Mediterranean is a "typical provocation, fraught with danger."

Vladimir Yermakov, writing in the Communist party paper said the air watch was a "violation of the norms of international law which provides for freedom of navigation in open seas in peacetime."

He charged that the Naples-based service of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, commanded by U.S. Adm. Edward Outlaw, "threatens the security of the Mediterranean peoples."

The accusation came one day after another Pravda writer attacked the United States for sending two destroyers from the Mediterranean into the Black Sea for a five-day cruise beginning today.

A spokesman of the U.S. Navy European headquarters said, "U.S. destroyers have in the past visited the Black Sea and we would expect this practice to continue."

Since the 1967 Middle East War the Soviet Union has increased the number of its ships in the Mediterranea. It has proclaimed itself a Mediterranean power and charged that U.S. 6th Fleet threatened peace in the area.

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The beauty shop was full when one of the employes, Mrs. Robert Hazlett, received a short wave radio call from her husband in Vietnam.

The call was being relayed by a ham operator and in order not to interfere with the reception, the shop manager pulled the switch on all equipment in the shop.

Whiz Kids Probe Problems That Stump Older Experts

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

"Not even the Creative Studies crew is willing to discount the experience and knowledge acquired by their older counterparts."

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—What happens when young minds dig into some of the perplexing problems that are baffling even research-oriented adults?

It's like a cool breeze blowing over an August lawn, according to a confident professor at American University. It may not make the grass turn green, but it's refreshing just the same, with a hint of showers to come.

Twenty-three bright youngsters brought the breeze to a new program called the Institute for Creative Studies at the university this summer. Under the direction of Dr. Theodore Wang, they were divided into teams of four or five and spent the summer with each team huddling over a specific problem that befuddles American industry, government or society in general.

Dr. Wang's whiz kids aren't claiming any miracles. But they are confident that the end of the summer yielded some proposals worth consideration. Such as:

- A better training program for disadvantaged youths to reduce the dropout rate in the Labor Department's Manpower Training and Development program.
- A mathematical method of depicting air freight movements in the northeast corridor of the United States to help ease air transportation problems.
- A means of measuring benefits achieved in relation to costs in Housing and Urban Development (H U D) programs.

That's heady stuff for an age group supposedly more interested in cost-benefits of X deodorant over Y, and a personal training program in the bugaloo.

"They're amazing," Dr. Wang said. "They lend a certain amount of spark and enthusiasm to solving problems that adults just don't have."

Started last summer as a pilot project in a private residence, the institute first involved only six people. Encouraged by the results, Dr. Wang convinced American University to put the institute on the curriculum this past summer, funded by grants from several government agencies. Enrollment was stretched to 23.

Participants are skimmed off the cream of the academic crop, mostly from Washington-area schools.

"We don't look for those who can just regurgitate facts and figures," he said. "Mostly we look for those who show an ability to find solutions in the easiest and most direct way."

Young, sharp minds, he feels, can often bring fresh approaches to problems for which answers have eluded adults.

"They don't have the inhibitions older people have," he said. "They don't stop at something because they feel it won't work, because they don't have any previous experience on which to base that assumption."

But rest easy, middle-agers. Nobody, not even Dr. Wang, is suggesting a real-life sequel to "Wild in the Streets." Not even the Creative Studies crew is willing to discount the experience and knowledge acquired by their older counterparts.

"One thing that makes it rough is that we lack the expertise in conducting research," said Chris Lutz, 19, of Annandale, Va.

But they are equally confident that they bring certain advantages to studying problems.

Their very newness to solving major problems mathematically could be their strongest advantage.

"We don't have set lines to approaching a problem," said Bob Wolpert, 19, of Arlington, Va. "An experienced person might have a tendency to choose an approach that has worked well for him in the past. Without that experience, we are not as likely to choose one automatically, and might end up with a solution that is simpler, and less expensive."

They also see their youthful idealism as a plus. Observed Ken Parker, 27, of Trinidad, who worked with the team studying HUD cost-benefits: "I think it's easier for an OR (operations research) man to look at the problem in terms of statistics, while we tend to think in terms of housing."

Results of the summer's studies were submitted to the government agencies concerned with various problems. One of the teams spent the summer considering "A Program for Youth Participation," which would include proposals to involve young people in actual policy-making and public service in this country.

And Wang hopes to broaden the Creative Studies program next summer to include more kids, plus an exchange program with youngsters in other countries.

If that looks like full-scale revolt instead of just youthful rebellion, it's probably because you're over 30 with mortgage on the brain and sand trap residue in the eyes.

WHIZ KIDS AT WORK: At Washington's American University, members of the Institute for Creative Studies happily dive into a pile of problems the likes of which are often baffling to even research-oriented adults.

Le Carre Emerges As Major Novelist

A SMALL TOWN IN GERMANY. By John le Carre. Coward-McCann. $6.95.

The scene is Bonn, a small town converted into a capital

JOHN LE CARRE

The time is close to now. The West Germans are nervously plagued by a nationalistic agitator who arouses riots in the streets. Among other things, the agitator is violently anti-British. And the British, waning in influence, have been hoping the Bonn government would help get Britain into the Common Market.

At this critical point, a minor figure in the British embassy disappears. He is Leo Harting, a German who had become a naturalized British citizen, and had made himself useful in handling the embassy's odds and ends of business. With him have disappeared some confidential files; their exposure could wreck Britain's chances at a Brussels conference on the Common Market, only a few days away.

The question: Why? The suspense. Why? Has Harting defected to the Russians? The answer is no. Harting had a compulsive reason for vanishing. The British Foreign Office sends out a tough investigator, Alan Turner, to find Harting before the latter's disappearance becomes generally known.

As a narrative, this novel reaches a surprising conclusion, for the hunter finds the hunted man under unusual circumstances.

In "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold" le Carre lifted the espionage story above the usual level. This time he gives life and substance to the mysterious workings of the diplomatic service.

Le Carre emerges now as a major novelist, a narrative master, a stylist of skill and a subtle commentator on the political nightmares of our time.

The Weeders Guide

A new lawn mower blade made from a flexible material and reported to be safer than the conventional metal blade has been developed.

The manufacturer (Dayco) says its product will reduce a serious family hazard — considering that the U.S. Public Health Service says there are more than 100,000 lawnmower accidents annually.

The metal blade whirls at 2,500 to 3,600 revolutions per minute. Dr. William L. White of the University of Pittsburgh reports that it is virtually impossible to remove a hand or foot from the cutting zone before it has been struck, because of the high speed.

The more common accidents are to the operator's hands or feet.

The new blade is made of rubber and plastic. It was demonstrated recently in Central Park, New York. It will curve, or flex, over solid objects, such as the feet, the designing engineers say.

FLEXIBLE MOWER BLADE

During tests in the last three years, several workers accidentally caught their shoes under the new blade. The shoes were scuffed, but aside from the jolt or sting to the foot, no serious injuries were reported.

The manufacturer says the new blade, which fits popular sizes of rotary mowers, will cut grass as efficiently as does the metal blade.

Daffodils vs. Narcissus

Do you know that the difference between a daffodil and a narcissus is in name only? The confusion goes back at least to 1629, when an Englishman named Parkinson wrote:

"... many idle and ignorant gardeners ...do call some of the daffodils, narcissus, when, as all that know any Latin, know that Narcissus is the Latin name and Daffodil the English of one and the same thing."

Who was Narcissus? He was the handsome, rather vain youth of Grecian myth, so fascinated by his reflection that he turned into a pool-side flower, forever admiring his reflection in the water.

Tulips close partially to protect themselves to a degree against rain and snow. Daffodils take bad weather wide open.

They escape considerable insect damage because they bloom before the peak insect season.

Four varieties highly recommended by Garden News are:

Yellow Cheerfulness, which have rounded, soft yellow heads with high, double, scented centers. Geranium, a sturdy, 16-inch-tall plant with a white collar contrasting its bright orange-red cup. Laurens Koster, with a bright yellow center cup and pointed white petals in the collar, and Scarlet Gem, with a wide-spreading orange trumpet and red center, winner of the 1914 Award of Merit in Hortensia Holland.

AMUSING NOTE was received by Sgt. Maj. Nicholas Fippinger from his home-town draft board requesting that he report to register with Selective Service. Currently serving in Vietnam, the career soldier is close to retirement after nearly 30 years in the Army.

NEW DEFENSE lawyer for James Earl Ray, charged with the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is Percy Foreman, above, noted attorney from Houston, Tex. Foreman replaces Arthur J. Hanes and Hanes' son as defense counsel.

NOBLE BIRD, the golden eagle, is listed as one of a species that is vanishing faster than any other. The New York Zoological Society has expressed concern about the declining number of birds of prey, such as eagles, falcons and vultures.

Collectors in the United States will be glad to know that they can order mint copies at face value directly from the Netherlands Philatelic Service, Prinses Beatrixlaan 11, The Hague, The Netherlands.

A mint set of singles costs 49 cents in U.S. currency and a miniature sheet of the lower three values is available for 70 cents. For postage and registration costs, 33 cents should be added to each order for the first 80 stamps and 20 cents for each additional 50. Payment can be made by international money order or U.S. bills (coins not accepted).

A souvenir folder containing one mint stamp of each new issue by the United Nations during 1968 is now available for gifts or as a collector's item. The front cover is a reproduction of a section of the interior of the Trusteeship Council, showing the location of the Henrik Starcke statue on the panelled wall.

The folder may be purchased directly from the United Nations Postal Administration (after Nov. 22) for $2. Some buyers may wish to use the folder as a Christmas gift. For this purpose, an attractive interleaf will be inserted conveying "Season's Greetings" in English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese — the five official languages of the U.N.

The 1969 Minkus New American Stamp Catalog has just come off the press and is available to collectors as well as dealers. The 320 pages reflect the great interest in U.S. stamps both here and abroad since there are more than 8,000 price changes — all upward.

For example the Postmasters' Provisionals of Lockport, N.Y., are now $18,000, an increase of $2,000. Regular issues and airmails also show startling increases in value. The more than 2,500 illustrations and detailed enlargements are of extreme value to all philatelists since they help identify stamps that look alike. The important philatelic work was compiled by editor-in-chief Ben Blumenthal and associate editors H.L. Lindquist, Prescott Thorp, George Tlamsa, Philip Bernstein and art director Rudy Vecerin. The cost for this reference book on U.S. items is $4.

The Smithsonian Institution will send an exhibit of unusual philatelic material to the 20th National Postage Stamp Show in New York Nov. 22-24. Among the rare items will be selected specimens from the Amelia Earhart Air Mail Collection, large die proofs of the U.S., Columbian Exposition issue of 1893, Trans-Mississippi issue of 1898 and the Pan-American issue of 1901.

Whiz Kids Probe Problems That Stump Older Experts

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—What happens when young minds dig into some of the perplexing problems that are baffling even research-oriented adults?

It's like a cool breeze blowing over an August lawn, according to a confident professor at American University. It may not make the grass turn green, but it's refreshing just the same, with a hint of showers to come.

"Not even the Creative Studies crew is willing to discount the experience and knowledge acquired by their older counterparts."

Twenty-three bright youngsters brought the breeze to a new program called the Institute for Creative Studies at the university this summer. Under the direction of Dr. Theodore Wang, they were divided into teams of four or five and spent the summer with each team huddling over a specific problem that befuddles American industry, government or society in general.

Dr. Wang's whiz kids aren't claiming any miracles. But they are confident that the end of the summer yielded some proposals worth consideration. Such as:

- A better training program for disadvantaged youths to reduce the dropout rate in the Labor Department's Manpower Training and Development program.
- A mathematical method of depicting air freight movements in the northeast corridor of the United States to help ease air transportation problems.
- A means of measuring benefits achieved in relation to costs in Housing and Urban Development (H U D) programs.

That's heady stuff for an age group supposedly more interested in cost-benefits of X deodorant over Y, and a personal training program in the bugaloo.

"They're amazing," Dr. Wang said. "They lend a certain amount of spark and enthusiasm to solving problems that adults just don't have."

Started last summer as a pilot project in a private residence, the institute first involved only six people. Encouraged by the results, Dr. Wang convinced American University to put the institute on the curriculum this past summer, funded by grants from several government agencies. Enrollment was stretched to 23.

Participants are skimmed off the cream of the academic crop, mostly from Washington-area schools.

"We don't look for those who can just regurgitate facts and figures," he said. "Mostly we look for those who show an ability to find solutions in the easiest and most direct way."

Young, sharp minds, he feels, can often bring fresh approaches to problems for which answers have eluded adults.

"They don't have the inhibitions older people have," he said. "They don't stop at something because they feel it won't work, because they don't have any previous experience on which to base that assumption."

But rest easy, middle-agers. Nobody, not even Dr. Wang, is suggesting a real-life sequel to "Wild in the Streets." Not even the Creative Studies crew is willing to discount the experience and knowledge acquired by their older counterparts.

"One thing that makes it rough is that we lack the expertise in conducting research," said Chris Lutz, 19, of Annandale, Va.

But they are equally confident that they bring certain advantages to studying problems.

Their very newness to solving major problems mathematically could be their strongest advantage.

"We don't have set lines to approaching a problem," said Bob Wolpert, 19, of Arlington, Va. "An experienced person might have a tendency to choose an approach that has worked well for him in the past. Without that experience, we are not as likely to choose one automatically, and might end up with a solution that is simpler, and less expensive."

They also see their youthful idealism as a plus. Observed Ken Parker, 27, of Trinidad, who worked with the team studying HUD cost-benefits: "I think it's easier for an OR (operations research) man to look at the problem in terms of statistics, while we tend to think in terms of housing."

Results of the summer's studies were submitted to the government agencies concerned with various problems. One of the teams spent the summer considering "A Program for Youth Participation," which would include proposals to involve young people in actual policy-making and public service in this country.

And Wang hopes to broaden the Creative Studies program next summer to include more kids, plus an exchange program with youngsters in other countries.

If that looks like full-scale revolt instead of just youthful rebellion, it's probably because you're over 30 with mortgage on the brain and sand trap residue in the eyes.

WHIZ KIDS AT WORK: At Washington's American University, members of the Institute for Creative Studies happily dive into a pile of problems the likes of which are often baffling to even research-oriented adults.

Le Carre Emerges As Major Novelist

A SMALL TOWN IN GERMANY. By John le Carre Coward-McCann. $6.95.

The scene is Bonn, a small town converted into a capital unusual circumstances.

The time is close to now. The West Germans are nervously plagued by a nationalistic agitator who arouses riots in the streets. Among other things, the agitator is violently anti-British. And the British, waning in influence, have been hoping the Bonn government would help get Britain into the Common Market.

JOHN LE CARRE

At this critical point, a minor figure in the British embassy disappears. He is Leo Harting, a German who had become a naturalized British citizen, and had made himself useful in handling the embassy's odds and ends of business. With him have disappeared some confidential files; their exposure could wreck Britain's chances at a Brussels conference on the Common Market, only a few days away.

The question: Why? The suspense. Why? Has Harting defected to the Russians? The answer is no. Harting had a compulsive reason for vanishing. The British Foreign Office sends out a tough investigator, Alan Turner, to find Harting before the latter's disappearance becomes generally known.

As a narrative, this novel reaches a surprising conclusion, for the hunter finds the hunted man under

In "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold" le Carre lifted the espionage story above the usual level. This time he gives life and substance to the mysterious workings of the diplomatic service.

Le Carre emerges now as a major novelist, a narrative master, a stylist of skill and a subtle commentator on the political nightmares of our time.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON

A new lawn mower blade made from a flexible material and reported to be safer than the conventional metal blade has been developed.

The manufacturer (Davco) says its product will reduce a serious family hazard considering that the U.S. Public Health Service says there are more than 100,000 lawnmower accidents annually.

The metal blade whirls at 2,500 to 3,600 revolutions per minute. Dr. William L. White of the University of Pittsburgh reports that it is virtually impossible to remove a hand or foot from the cutting zone before it has been struck, because of the high speed.

The more common accidents are to the operator's hands or feet.

The new blade is made of rubber and plastic. It was demonstrated recently in Central Park, New York. It will curve, or flex, over solid objects, such as the feet, the designing engineers say.

FLEXIBLE MOWER BLADE

During tests in the last three years, several workers accidentally caught their shoes under the new blade. The shoes were scuffed, but aside from the jolt or sting to the foot, no serious injuries were reported.

The manufacturer says the new blade, which fits popular sizes of rotary mowers, will cut grass as efficiently as does the metal blade.

Daffodils vs. Narcissus

Do you know that the difference between a daffodil and a narcissus is in name only? The confusion goes back at least to 1629, when an Englishman named Parkinson wrote:

"... many idle and ignorant gardeners ... do call some of the daffodils, narcissus, when, as all that know any Latin, know that Narcissus is the Latin name and Daffodil the English of one and the same thing."

Who was Narcissus? He was the handsome, rather vain youth of Grecian myth, so fascinated by his reflection that he turned into a pool-side flower, forever admiring his reflection in the water.

Tulips close partially to protect themselves to a degree against rain and snow. Daffodils take bad weather wide open.

They escape considerable insect damage because they bloom before the peak insect season.

Four varieties highly recommended by Garden News are:

Yellow Cheerfulness, which have rounded, soft yellow heads with high, double, scented centers; Geranium, a sturdy, 16-inch-tall plant with a white collar contrasting its bright orange-red cup; Laurens Koster, with a bright yellow center cup and pointed white petals in the collar, and Scarlet Gem, with a wide-spreading orange trumpet and red center, winner of the 1914 Award of Merit in Horticultural Trials.

AMUSING NOTE was received by Sgt. Maj. Nicholas Fippinger from his home-town draft board requesting that he report to register with Selective Service. Currently serving in Vietnam, the career soldier is close to retirement after nearly 30 years in the Army.

NEW DEFENSE lawyer for James Earl Ray, charged with the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is Percy Foreman, above, noted attorney from Houston, Tex. Foreman replaces Arthur J. Hanes and Hanes' son as defense counsel.

NOBLE BIRD, the golden eagle, is listed as one of a species that is vanishing faster than any other. The New York Zoological Society has expressed concern about the declining number of birds of prey, such as eagles, falcons and vultures.

Stamps In The News

The 1968 edition of Netherlands' popular Child Welfare semi-postals consists of five multicolored adhesives depicting familiar fairy tale characters. The set, which will help raise funds for the benefit of poor children in Holland, shows a goblin, a giant, a witch, a dragon and a sorcerer.

Collectors in the United States will be glad to know that they can order mint copies at face value directly from the Netherlands Philatelic Service, Prinses Beatrixlaan 11, The Hague, The Netherlands.

A mint set of singles costs 49 cents in U.S. currency and a miniature sheet of the lower three values is available for 70 cents. For postage and registration costs, 33 cents should be added to each order for the first 80 stamps and 20 cents for each additional 50. Payment can be made by international money order or U.S. bills (coins not accepted).

A souvenir folder containing one mint stamp of each new issue by the United Nations during 1968 is now available for gifts or as a collector's item. The front cover is a reproduction of a section of the interior of the Trusteeship Council, showing the location of the Henrik Starcke statue on the panelled wall.

The folder may be purchased directly from the United Nations Postal Administration (after Nov. 22) for $2. Some buyers may wish to use the folder as a Christmas gift. For this purpose, an attractive interleaf will be inserted conveying "Season's Greetings" in English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese the five official languages of the U.N.

The 1969 Minkus New American Stamp Catalog has just come off the press and is available to collectors as well as dealers. The 320 pages reflect the great interest in U.S. stamps both here and abroad since there are more than 8,000 price changes all upward. For example the Postmasters' Provisionals of Lockport, N.Y., are now $18,000, an increase of $2,000. Regular issues and airmails also show startling increases in value. The more than 2,500 illustrations and detailed enlargements are of extreme value to all philatelists since they help identify stamps that look alike. The important philatelic work was compiled by editor-in-chief Ben Blumenthal and associate editors H.L. Lindquist, Prescott Thorp, George Tlamsa, Philip Bernstein and art director Rudy Vecerin. The cost for this reference book on U.S. items is $4.

The Smithsonian Institution will send an exhibit of unusual philatelic material to the 20th National Postage Stamp Show in New York Nov. 22-24. Among the rare items will be selected specimens from the Amelia Earhart Air Mail Collection, large die proofs of the U.S., Columbian Exposition issue of 1893, Trans-Mississippi issue of 1898 and the Pan-American issue of 1901.

The design of the 5-cent postal card saluting the Women Marines on their 25th anniversary was created by Muriel R. Chamberlain, chief of the art section of the U.S. Government Printing Office. The 5-cent card, showing a modern woman Marine in green uniform, was issued July 26 in San Francisco during the fifth biennial convention of the Women Marines Assn.

Ann Landers

Betting Horses More Reliable Than Wagers on Human Race

Dear Ann Landers: I can't resist the temptation to comment on the problem Sid was having with his bride-to-be Doris. He became upset when he learned Doris had had her nose remodeled and had kept it from him. Sid expressed his anxiety to Doris' father over lunch -- saying he was concerned about what their unborn children might look like.

Your reply, "Better the kids should inherit Doris' old nose than Sid's brains," reminded me of this true story.

When I was young I remember my father asking a very intelligent but homely uncle why he was going to marry a certain young lady who was extremely beautiful, but unbalanced. In fact, everyone who knew the girl said she was crazy. My uncle replied, "I want children who will be beautiful like their mother and intelligent like me."

My uncle and his wife had five children. Every one of those kids is homely like their father and crazy like their mother. --- PAUL L.

Dear Paul: No one can predict what the genes and choromosomes will produce. For people who wish to gamble, I recommend the horse races.

Dear Ann Landers: A couple of years ago you printed a letter from a teenager who asked you to help bridge the generation gap in her house. She said her parents kept harping on how things were when they were teen-agers and this only made matters worse. After all, it's a different world today and everything has changed, including the teen-agers.

Your answer was the best thing I had ever read on the subject. I cut it out and pinned it to the bullentin board in the kitchen. It helped a lot in our house.

The clipping is getting ragged and hard to read. Will you please reprint your answer? I would love to have a fresh copy to pin up. Thank you. --- GLAD THERE'S AN ANN LANDERS

Dear Glad: Happy to oblige. Here it is:

Attention Parents or "Fellow Antiques": The one phrase that kids do not want to hear is, "When I was your age." In the first place, they don't believe you ever were. In the second plce, they couldn't care less "how it was." They are concerned with how it is. Comparisons are not only boring, they are meaningless.

Your children are growing up in a different world than the one you and I knew. They have different problems, different pressures--and different parents. Teen-agers today have it easier in some ways, but their lives are much more complicated and frustrating in other ways. One thing is certain -- I'm glad I am not in high school today. I'm not at all sure I could make it.

Confidential to Need Him: You need him like Custer needed more Indians. Stop telling the loafer to get out of your life. He won't do it. Why should he? He's having a ball, and all for free. Get out of his.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex -- Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Now concerning the collection...Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay be him in store, as God hath prospered him. (I Corinthians 16:1-2)

PRAYER: Our Father, we beseech Thee to help us to lift our giving to such a level that it helps. Help us to let our light so shine before men that they may see our good works and glorify Thee, through Thy son, our Savior. In His name. Amen.

If You Were the Judge

Season Never Closes On Stuffed Deer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Myron recognized only four seasons--pepper, salt, vinegar and mustard. Any other reason, such as the hunting season, he just didn't pay attention to.

Consequently, when he took a shot at a deer, he got bagged instead of the animal. A game warden suddenly appeared and hauled him into court on charges of "pursuing and taking deer out of season.'"

And, to add to Myron's misadventure, it developed in court that the object of his aim wasn't even a live deer. It was a stuffed animal that the game warden had placed in the woods to trap persons who were hunting illegally.

"If it was stuffed," Myron protested to the judge, "I'm innocent. It means that I didn't shoot at a deer. It means that I shot at what once was a deer!"

"Ah!" retorted the game warden, "but it was the intent that counts. And, Myron's intent was to serve up vension for dinner."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail Myron for pursuing deer out of season?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that it is impossible to "pursue" a deer that is not alive; that a person cannot be convicted of doing something which is legally impossible to do.

If You Were the Judge

Season Never Closes On Stuffed Deer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Myron recognized only four seasons--pepper, salt, vinegar and mustard. Any other reason, such as the hunting season, he just didn't pay attention to.

Consequently, when he took a shot at a deer, he got bagged instead of the animal. A game warden suddenly appeared and hauled him into court on charges of "pursuing and taking deer out of season.'"

And, to add to Myron's misadventure, it developed in court that the object of his aim wasn't even a live deer. It was a stuffed animal that the game warden had placed in the woods to trap persons who were hunting illegally.

"If it was stuffed," Myron protested to the judge, "I'm innocent. It means that I didn't shoot at a deer. It means that I shot at what once was a deer!"

"Ah!" retorted the game warden, "but it was the intent that counts. And, Myron's intent was to serve up vension for dinner."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail Myron for pursuing deer out of season?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that it is impossible to "pursue" a deer that is not alive; that a person cannot be convicted of doing something which is legally impossible to do.

DAMAGES AMOUNTED to an estimated $17,000 Tuesday when this tractor-trailer truck overturned in a two-vehicle accident one mile east of Morehouse on highway 60. Driver of the truck was Eddie Jones, Jasper, Tex., who received minor injuries. His truck struck an automobile driven by Jeanette Cruse, 22, Morehouse, who also received minor injuries.

Victim of Robbery, Beating In Satisfactory Condition

SENATH - A 55-year-old car salesman who was robbed and beaten, was in Dunklin County Memorial Hospital at Kennett and being treated for broken ribs and facial cuts administered by two gunmen who beat him to the ground after taking $7,500 in cash from his wallet and a four-carat diamond ring from his finger.

Authorities said after taking all the valuables the salesman had, including checks for another $11,000, the culprits demanded his wife bring more money and threatened to kill him if she failed to do so.

Roy Manley, former Dunklin County planter and auto salesman at Carlock Pontiac Sales Co. at Blytheville, was listed in satisfactory condition by doctors at the hospital after the pistol-whipping.

Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott said Manley was attacked by the two gunmen, both wearing skiing masks, as he returned to his Senath home from Blytheville about 8 a.m. Thursday. The men, the sheriff said, called Manley by name.

Sheriff Scott said the two men jumped from behind shrubbery in the Manley driveway as he was getting out of his car. After taking the $11,000 in cash, he said, the robbers took checks for $10,000 and $1,000 from Manley's wallet and pulled the large diamond ring from his finger.

His Wife, Mrs. Lillie Mae Manley, said she had come to the door of the couple's home to see why had had not entered the house. Mrs. Manley said they grabbed her and said, "There is money in the house. If you don't give us the money we will finish him off."

She said they took $1,500 from her and grabbed rings from her finger, including a wedding ring. The jewelry was valued at $2,700.

Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott said the men apparently were hiding when Manley drove in the driveway.

The men then beat Manley on the head, pulled his trousers off, and held a gun on him. They took $6,000 in cash from his pockets, one of the bills a $1,000 bill, two $500 bills, and the rest 100 and 50 dollar bills. They also took checks made out to Manley, one for $10,000 from Raymond Carlock, and the other for $1,000 from Grover Carlock.

Manley, who works with an auto sales agency in Blytheville, Ark., frequently carried large sums of money, Sheriff Scott said. He reported that both of the checks were drawn on the First National Bank of Blytheville.

One of the men accompanied Mrs. Manley into the house obtaining an additional $1,500 in $20 bills. The man then jerked the telephone cord from the wall and pulled three rings from Mrs. Manley's hand.

He described the rings as a wedding band, an engagement ring with one large diamond and a diamond dinner ring. The sheriff said the men then left in Manley's car, which was found about two hours later by deputies about one-half mile west of the home on a gravel road. Sheriff Scott said the toboggan masks worn by the men were found in the car.

Sheriff Scott believes four persons were involved in the robbery with one of them remaining out of sight of te couple. He feels the fourth indivdual drove to the other three men to the couple's home and then left for the place where the Manley car was later found.

Personal Income Predicted at $25.5 Billion in 1982

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Personal income in Missouri in 1982 is predicted at $25.5 billion — most of it generated in the metropolitan areas of St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph and Springfield.

The figure is projected in a five-year study published by the Business and Public Administration Research Center at the University of Missouri.

The study noted the state's total personal income in 1966 was $12.9 billion, and in 1950 it was $5.7 billion.

The study was made by Dr. Paul E. Junk, professor of economics, and by Dr. Robert W. Paterson, economist and director of the research center.

According to the study, the 1982 personal income figure for nonmetropolitan areas will be $3 billion, and outstate areas will produce about $4.5 billion.

The study also said per capita personal income adjusted for price changes went up from the equivalent of $1,891 to $2,644 from 1950 to 1965.

DAMAGES AMOUNTED to an estimated $17,000 Tuesday when this tractor-trailer truck overturned in a two-vehicle accident one mile east of Morehouse on highway 60. Victim of Robbery, Beating In Satisfactory Condition

SENATH - A 55-year-old car salesman who was robbed and beaten, was in Dunklin County Memorial Hospital at Kennett and being treated for broken ribs and facial cuts administered by two gunmen who beat him to the ground after taking $7,500 in cash from his wallet and a four-carat diamond ring from his finger.

Authorities said after taking all the valuables the salesman had, including checks for another $11,000, the culprits demanded his wife bring more money and threatened to kill him if she failed to do so.

Roy Manley, former Dunklin County planter and auto salesman at Carlock Pontiac Sales Co. at Blytheville, was listed in satisfactory condition by doctors at the hospital after the pistol-whipping.

Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott said Manley was attacked by the two gunmen, both wearing skiing masks, as he returned to his Senath home from Blytheville about 8 a.m. Thursday. The men, the sheriff said, called Manley by name.

Sheriff Scott said the two men jumped from behind shrubbery in the Manley driveway as he was getting out of his car. After taking the $11,000 in cash, he said, the robbers took checks for $10,000 and $1,000 from Manley's wallet and pulled the large diamond ring from his finger.

His Wife, Mrs. Lillie Mae Manley, said she had come to the door of the couple's home to see why had had not entered the house. Mrs. Manley said they grabbed her and said, "There is money in the house. If you don't give us the money we will finish him off."

She said they took $1,500 from her and grabbed rings from her finger, including a wedding ring. The jewelry was valued at $2,700.

Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott said the men apparently were hiding when Manley drove in the driveway.

The men then beat Manley on the head, pulled his trousers off, and held a gun on him. They took $6,000 in cash from his pockets, one of the bills a $1,000 bill, two $500 bills, and the rest 100 and 50 dollar bills. They also took checks made out to Manley, one for $10,000 from Raymond Carlock, and the other for $1,000 from Grover Carlock.

Manley, who works with an auto sales agency in Blytheville, Ark., frequently carried large sums of money, Sheriff Scott said. He reported that both of the checks were drawn on the First National Bank of Blytheville.

One of the men accompanied Mrs. Manley into the house obtaining an additional $1,500 in $20 bills. The man then jerked the telephone cord from the wall and pulled three rings from Mrs. Manley's hand.

He described the rings as a wedding band, an engagement ring with one large diamond and a diamond dinner ring. The sheriff said the men then left in Manley's car, which was found about two hours later by deputies about one-half mile west of the home on a gravel road. Sheriff Scott said the toboggan masks worn by the men were found in the car.

Sheriff Scott believes four persons were involved in the robbery with one of them remaining out of sight of te couple. He feels the fourth indivdual drove to the other three men to the couple's home and then left for the place where the Manley car was later found.

Personal Income Predicted at $25.5 Billion in 1982

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Personal income in Missouri in 1982 is predicted at $25.5 billion — most of it generated in the metropolitan areas of St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph and Springfield.

The figure is projected in a five-year study published by the Business and Public Administration Research Center at the University of Missouri.

The study noted the state's total personal income in 1966 was $12.9 billion, and in 1960 it was $5.7 billion.

The study was made by Dr. Paul E. Junk, professor of economics, and by Dr. Robert W. Paterson, economist and director of the research center.

According to the study, the 1982 personal income figure for nonmetropolitan areas will be $3 billion, and outstate areas will produce about $4.5 billion.

The study also said per capita personal income adjusted for price changes went up from the equivalent of $1,891 to $2,644 from 1950 to 1965.
